MID-WINTER PARTY

EVERY SATURDAY CLUB HAS A GOOD TIME

The annual mid-winter party of the Every Saturday Club was held Thursday evening at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lyon on Walnut street, Newtonville. About 60 active and honorary members, past members and guests were present. Samuel Thurber, Jr., called the company to order and announced that through the kindness of Prof. —, the company would be brought in closer contact with the winter's study and some of the great minds that had been considered in the program. The professor had achieved an almost life-sized representation of noted men and women, the delicate mechanism seeming almost to admit the power of thought and reasoning. He explained that in bringing this marvellous collection across the water, terrible cold, tremendous seas and violent motion (inducing equally violent emotion) had been experienced, and the consequent strain and water-soaked condition gave him great anxiety as to the effect on his figures. The professor was assisted by twin helpers, Timothy and Michael Vail—sturdy, stalwart Irishmen, handy with the oil can and tools. Aristotle was the first figure brought in. It took careful work—filling joints, adjusting the various parts, tightening nuts and screws—to get this figure safely on its feet, when the result was startlingly lifelike. Sir Francis Bacon was next produced, and it required even more tinkering and oiling to give him any balance at all. His proximity seemed to set Aristotle's machinery in motion and open his lips, and turning (a little stiffly, it must be confessed) upon Bacon he freed his mind of long nursed rancor against his treatment of him in being the first to set aside Aristotle's hold upon the thought of the world. Bacon replied by claiming as his work everything in eight in the Elizabethan era, and therefore his right to ignore any other claim to interest from the world.

Darwin, now introduced upon the scene, said in plain language that Bacon was not "the only pebble on the beach"; that he himself, being a modest man, had always been a silent man, but that he felt it his duty to say that his long search for the missing link had been at last rewarded and that he had found it in the Every Saturday Club. That it was Mr. — here the machinery ran down, the return of consciousness flickered out, and the world is still none the wiser for this later important discovery.

Next came Pythagoras, wrath at being taken away, even for a time, from the wonderful boy in whom he finds his latest reincarnation (and who is just now the marvel of the Harvard professors), Joan of Arc, pouring out her soul in fervent poetry(?); repeating her battle cry, and ranging herself, not unnaturally, with the suffragettes, and proving herself a truly wonderful bit of mechanism. Mrs. Spinkfirst, armed on the one hand with a brick, on the other with "votes for women," electrified her audience, and the professor, who dodged the brick successfully, by the vigor and activity of her speech for the ballot.

Brignoli and Jenny Lind came next. To Jenny's violin accompaniment "Brig" sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and then together they rendered "When the Swallows Home-ward Fly," showing almost human intelligence in singing two verses concerning the Every Saturday Club and its members; even reading at sight a new verse handed in that evening. Truly it was a wonderful performance, and held the audience spell-bound. The professor is to be congratulated on his show.

Refreshments followed the performance.

SONG RECITAL.

Mrs. Laura Comstock Littlefield, soprano soloist of the First Church, will give a song recital in Chickering Hall on Tuesday, March 8, at 8:15 p. m. Her program will include songs by Schubert, Schumann, Brahms, Dupare, G. Faure, Messie, Thomas, Strauss, Reger, Taubert, Manney, Loomis, Dressel, Ahlertson. Another Shepherd will be the pianist.

LASELL SEMINARY.

The Orphean Club will give the cantata, "A Legend of Granada," at Lasell Seminary on Wednesday evening, March 9, at 7:45 o'clock.

The third lecture in Mr. Henry Turner Bailey's course will be given on Thursday evening, March 11 at 7:45 o'clock. Subject, "Not Fancy, work but Handicraft." Friends are welcome.

K. O. K. A. PLAY.

The finishing touches are being rapidly put on to the two plays to be given next Wednesday by Castle Carylle of Newtonville. An elaborate program has been arranged and the members of the castle have taken hold of the work with great enthusiasm.

One of the character parts in "The Man From Brandon" will be taken by Mr. Russell Carter as the colored maid "Mandy," while Mr. Lewis Puffer will take the typical Yankee part as "Sally Long" in the mock trial.

The well-known Birch's Orchestra will render several pleasing selections in the course of the evening.

DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

The Domestic Utilities Company has found and presented to a long expected public a fuel-saving device, fully guaranteed and designed to save from one-third to one-half the expense of coal, and causing a more intense and yet even heat. It is called the Wonder Combustion system. The company also has a device by which six to eight articles can be cooked on top of a gas range with two burners, in practically the same time as four articles on four burners. These articles are being recommended by a large number of people in the Newtons.

DEBATE LOST

BROOKLINE HIGH WINS

The debate last Friday night between Brookline High and the school team was well attended and attracted much attention.

The first speaker, Allen Raymond '10 of Newton high, outlined the affirmative side and pointed out the deplorable conditions of our merchant marine. Ernest Clark '10, the second speaker for the affirmative, spoke in a manner which was very convincing. He showed that a ship subsidy was the best policy for building up our merchant marine. Paul Smart '10, the last speaker for Newton, dwelt upon the fact that ship subsidies had proven advantageous to foreign countries.

For Brookline, Thurston Clark '12 opened the negative side by showing that ship subsidies were not necessary to build up our merchant marine. Allan Hay '10 then spoke upon the experiences of foreign nations. He was followed by Philip Russell '10, who pointed out that a ship subsidy would favor one industry to the detriment of others.

In the rebuttal Hay spoke for Brookline and Raymond for Newton. The Brookline Mandolin Club entertained the audience while the judges considered the matter. Miss Ruth Ivy '10 of Newton played a violin solo.

Brookline was awarded the debate by the judges, the decision being announced by Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, chairman.

The debate was followed by dancing in the drill hall.

The baseball squad started practice in the drill hall yesterday. The prospects for a championship team this year are very bright. Of last year's team, Barry '10, captain, will play second base; Sanders '11 third base; Trip '11 and Gallagher '10 are fielders, and Woods '10, Carl '10 and McCourt '10 are pitchers.

There is to be a gymnastics carnival March 19, 1910.

The fact that Newton High did not win a point in the interscholastic meet last Friday is not commensurate with the efforts of the men entered. Clancy '10 qualified for the final in the 45-yard high hurdles and was ahead of the field over the last hurdle in the finals when he stumbled and lost his place. The time was 41.5s, which equals the B. A. record. Rorder '11 also ran a plucky race in the 600-yard and was only a few feet behind the leader in the finals.

The relay race was lost to Roxbury Latin, who made the fourth best time. The team which ran was Parnes '12, McClure '11, Rorder '11, Forte '10.

The senior class held a meeting in the assembly hall Wednesday morning. The candidates for class officers were chosen and are Paul Smart, Alan Raymond, Ernest Clark and Bob Barry. The candidates for class historian are Misses Elizabeth Ganse, Emily Wellington, Mildred Clarke and Dorothy Emmons.

Burr, chairman of the picture committee, announced that J. E. Purdy, Boston, had been chosen as the class photographer.

DEATH OF MR. FELIX.

Mr. Louis Antoine Felix passed away Thursday at his home on Central street, Auburndale. He was born in Bristol, R. I., December 22nd, 1837, but passed his childhood at his father's plantation in Cuba.

His first business connections were with the Waltham Watch Company and the Sandwich Glass Company, yet most of his active life was spent in the service of the house of Lee, Higginson & Co., Boston. He was post master of Monitor Lodge of Masons, in Waltham, and was a member of the Royal Arch Chapter and of St. Bernard Commandery of Knights Templars. He was married on Sept. 14, 1862, to Mary Caroline Whitney of Waltham, who died in 1878. Two daughters survive him, Mrs. Frederick J. Randlett and Miss Marie R. Felix.

Funeral services were held from the Church of the Messiah Saturday afternoon and were conducted by the rector, Rev. John Matteson. The burial was in Mt. Peake cemetery, Waltham.

"HORSE" RACE

CAUSES GREAT SPORT AT HUNNEWELL CLUB

"Fifty dollars on Whiskers!" "Ten to one on Cupid!" "One hundred on (Curly Locks)!" Amid a perfect bedlam of shouting, laughing and strenuous hilarity the members of the Hunnewell Racing Association held their first annual meet at the club race course in Stanley Hall Tuesday evening. In the centre of the hall a space had been tailed off, ten by twenty feet. Four lines of tape, stretched the long way of the course, marked the courses the horses were to run. Each entry, armed with a pair of scissors, at the stroke of the gong, dug in their spurs in a frantic endeavor to see who could slit the tape without going outside, and arrive at the finish line first.

Meanwhile the general public, who had been plentifully supplied with funds, were making frantic efforts to place their money with those bookmakers who were offering the best odds on the horse they placed their faith upon. This was no easy matter, when it is considered that these bookmakers were as anxiously endeavoring to appropriate as much of the public's money as they could without exciting the suspicion of the constable of the course.

The meet opened with the Bowling Sweepstakes, in which the following horses were entered: Whiskers (H. H. Learned), Supid (F. H. Loveland), Red Top (R. L. Chipman), Honey Boy (W. H. Barker). Although evidently unused to traveling without hoppers, Whiskers made a fine race and won handily.

The Petticoat Derby was exciting from start to finish. Flora Temple (Mrs. Carl Stanley), broke badly in the back stretch, but got going again and finished a nose ahead of Jerry (Mrs. H. L. Dexter, Jr.). Nick (Mrs. C. N. Young) and Columbia (Mrs. R. L. Chipman) made a plucky run, but failed to land a place.

The Saturday Night Futurity was a terrible blow to the bookmakers and placed some on the verge of bankruptcy. The favorite, Adonis (C. Drew), was apparently an easy winner when a rein broke and he went off the course. Gypsy Moth (E. F. Sawyer) and Possum (J. E. Brown) broke badly, and their drivers gave up the race. Meanwhile Salome (A. Marshall) had been left hopelessly in the rear, but cheered on by the shouts of the multitude, he drove a careful if not speedy race, and was the only horse to finish. Peggy (Mrs. C. N. Fitts) rode a splendid race in the Ladies' Grand Prix, and though pushed hard by Majestic (Mrs. M. Bruner) and Hamburg Belle (Mrs. Dr. Utley) finished an easy winner. Nancy Hanks (Mrs. E. P. Tuttle) at one time well in the lead, met with an accident and had to withdraw.

The Association Hurdles had for entries Calabash (A. G. Macomber, Jr.), the Goat (W. B. Sharpe), Curly Locks (O. W. Holmes), Pain Killer (Dr. H. C. Spencer). Curly Locks was evidently a ringer, for he had no difficulty in distancing the field. High Stepper (Miss J. W. McIntyre) in a driving finish, won by a head from Peerless (Mrs. C. C. Smith) in the Ladies' Free-for-all. Lady Suffolk (Mrs. J. F. Bothfeld) and Sapphire (Mrs. L. D. Towle) got into difficulty in the back stretch and did not finish. The Pony Sweepstakes was so closely contested that the judges had difficulty in deciding the winner. Adamant (W. O. Delano) was finally adjudged the lucky horse. Old Peaceful's (S. H. Uhler) protest being overruled. Dynamite (Dr. Webber) and Harmony (E. J. H. Estabrook) also ran.

The prettiest race of the evening, the Club Steeplechase, was won by Maude S. (Mrs. A. H. Waitt). Blondine (Mrs. George Owen), Mayfair (Miss Wilcox) and Sadie Mack (Mrs. H. North) each drove a beautiful race and were loudly applauded for the fine action and sportsmanlike conduct.

The finals were won by W. O. Delano and O. W. Holmes, and Miss McIntyre and Mrs. A. H. Waitt taking first and second prizes respectively.

The bookmakers were G. H. Snyder, Howard Norton, Ralph C. Emery, W. F. Garcelon, Frank H. Potter, Stanley Horton, R. G. Howard, S. A. Conover, E. E. Hayward, R. E. Potter, F. N. Pierce, H. L. Dexter, Jr. They were appropriately dressed in typical race track garb and jewels. Messrs. Emery, Garcelon and Dexter exciting particular admiration. Messrs. Snyder and Norton won the cup for making the most money. L. D. Gibbs was constable, and his makeup was exceptionally good. It is due to him that order was so well preserved, and that so few suffered at the hands of the light-fingered gentry.

The judges of the course were H. W. Kendal, E. F. Burbank and W. F. Gregory. Frank B. Hopewell and George Owen acted as financial managers, and F. E. Stanley as starter. Though somewhat rusty his previous experience admirably fitted him for the work, and to him is largely due the successful running of the races. The credit for the evening is due to Messrs. E. P. Tuttle, George Owen and F. A. Wilcox, who had the affair in charge.

The refreshments were in charge of Mrs. E. P. Tuttle, Mrs. George Owen and Mrs. F. A. Wilcox, and were served by these gentlemen: Messrs. Wilcox, Kendal, Tolman, Gay, Bruner, Hubbard, Quinby, North, Dr. Pearson, Dr. Bradley, Dr. Bothfeld and Dr. Cummings. Even the pouters were gentlemen, Messrs. G. Fred and Joseph B. Simpson and F. E. and F. O. Stanley.

THE HOUSE-FLY AT THE BAR.

The house-fly stands at the bar of modern science, under indictment, as the filthiest and most dangerous of all household pests. Suburban Life, in the March number, describes several ways of getting rid of the house-fly, as follows:

"Sprinkle the garbage cans with lime or kerosene, and keep them constantly covered.

"Do not allow decayed vegetables or other material to accumulate. Keep your premises clean.

"Be careful that all doors and windows are screened.

"To kill flies in the house, dissolve 318 grains of bichromate of potash in ten ounces of water. It should be sweetened with sugar and placed in shallow dishes throughout the house. This material is cheap, can be purchased at the drug store."

REAL ESTATE.

Henry H. Read has sold for William Z. Ripley and Addison C. Burham, trustees of the Charles S. Davis estate, a lot of land situated on the southerly side of Hancock avenue, Newton Centre. The purchaser, Mr. Henry Bovey, will at once prepare plans for the erection of a dwelling house for his own occupancy.

—The Guild of the Good Shepherd met on Tuesday with Mrs. L. H. Bacon on Beacon street.

—The Saturday Duplicate Whist Club met last week with Mrs. O. R. Rice of Waban avenue.

—Mr. C. W. Eddy of Beacon street started Thursday on an extended business trip to New Mexico.

—The bishop of the diocese, the Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, visited the Church of the Good Shepherd last Tuesday evening and confirmed seven members of the parish.

—The Waban Tennis Courts Immigrant party will be held in the hall tomorrow night and a large gathering of members is anticipated. Many special attractions have been provided.

—The annual meeting of the Waban Tennis Courts corporation for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year will be held at the residence of Mr. William M. Buffum, Beacon street, on Wednesday evening of next week.

—The postponed lecture under the auspices of the Men's Club of the Church of the Good Shepherd, by Dr. W. F. Boos of the Massachusetts General Hospital, on "Children and the Sex Problem" was given on Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. H. O. Stetson, Pine Ridge road. A large number followed his interesting talk closely.

—An open meeting of the Young People's League was held in Waban Hall on Sunday afternoon, the special feature being a talk by Captain John Ryan of West Newton, old Indian fighter and soldier, who was introduced by Mr. Perkins, a G. A. R. comrade. He spoke most interestingly on his experiences with Gen. Custer and on the "massacre," and pictures and relics of the principals added much to his talk.

"MR. BOB."

"Mr. Bob," a comedy in two acts, was given in Waban Hall for the benefit of the building fund of the Union Church last Thursday and Friday evenings, with the following cast: Rebecca Luke, a maiden lady, Miss Andrew; Katherine Rogers, her niece, Mrs. Kimball; Marion Bryant, Katherine's friend.

erine's friend, Mrs. Davis; Patty, Miss Rebecca's maid, Mrs. Rane; Philip Royson, Miss Rebecca's nephew, Mr. Kimball; Robert Brown, lawyer's clerk, Mr. Arnold; Jenkins, the butler, Mr. Davis.

Two large audiences heartily enjoyed the amusing situations and clever lines of this merry farce and heartily applauded the creditable work of the actors. The stage was artistically set and the whole performance reflected much credit on the committee, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. J. E. Parker.

The play is one which goes of its own accord, but much of the acting was really excellent, the comedy characters excellent. Mr. Arnold in the difficult leading part surprised his friends by displaying marked ability as a character actor, never dropping out of his part and by his makeup and manner creating constant laughter and applause. In the minor parts of the maid and butler, Mrs. Rane and Mr. Davis acted with almost professional ease and their comedy parts, especially the love scenes, were splendidly done.

Mrs. Davis (formerly Miss Saville) was smothered in a part which gave her little chance to display her true abilities, but her acting left nothing to be desired. The other straight parts were less noticeable, but showed faithful preparation and made a well rounded presentation. Miss Andrews acted one or two trying scenes capably and Mr. and Mrs. Davis were natural.

Before each performance Mr. E. L. Zeisel, baritone, sang twice, "Sons of the Desert" and "Come Where the Lindens Bloom," being enthusiastically received. As always the song with ease and expression and his voice naturally beautiful in tone and timbre was at its best.

Over $100 was cleared.

MOUNT IDA SCHOOL.

Two interesting farces were pleasingly given by the pupils of Mount Ida School, in the school gymnasium on the evening of Monday, Feb. 28. The members of the senior class in expression took most successfully the various parts. "The Klopomania," by Margaret Cameron, and "A Proposal Under Difficulties," by John Kendrick Bangs, were the two farces given.

On the evening of Feb. 22 the faculty and students of Mount Ida School celebrated Washington's Birthday by a Colonial dinner and dance. Mrs. Jewett and Miss Rowley received the guests in the living room and headed the long line of bepowdered and bejeweled ladies and gentlemen which moved to the dining room. After the dinner supper of "ye olden time" the whole party adjourned to the gymnasium for dancing.

George H. Gregg & Son FUNERAL DIRECTORS

All the Newtons 296 Walnut St., Newtonville

The hearing before the committee on metropolitan affairs on the joint bills of Waltham and Newton for improvement of the Charles river, held last Monday morning, was well attended, with Mayor Hatfield, Representative Ellis and White, Aldermen Jones and Lyons, City Solicitor Shocum, Street Commissioner Ross, City Engineer Rogers, Assessors Lewis E. Coffin, Rev. E. H. Thresher and Messrs. G. M. Fliske, Bernard Early, C. A. Sylvester, Carl Alberte, George R. Pilsafer, J. Franklin Ryder and F. M. Tyler noticed in the audience, besides a large number of Waltham citizens.

Senator Harvey of Waltham opened the hearing. He stated that a committee of the Park Commission had made an estimate of the cost of the work which it was proposed to carry out. Their report included 160,000 cubic yards of dredging at a cost of $100,000 and for the improvement of bays and inlets, 85,000 yards of dredging at a cost of $50,000. The proposed improvements were in the line of recommendations made in previous years by joint committees in 1894 and 1896 and by the Metropolitan Park Commission in 1898.

He said the river is situated in the center of the Metropolitan district, all of which is interested because people gather there from all over the district and the money is needed for the health of the community as well as for the improvements of the general conditions of the river itself. He referred to the work as being a continuation of what had already been done in Watertown and Cambridge by the Metropolitan Park Commission.

City Engineer Rogers of Newton explained the conditions of the river banks from Moody street bridge to Concord bridge, a distance of four miles. He referred to a plan drawn by himself and Engineer Brewer showing the location of the marshes and that part of the river which it was proposed to improve.

City Solicitor Shocum said this portion of the river was four miles long with nine boat livers and four private boat clubs. There were 3500 canoes and 50 power boats at the last census, and from 10,000 to 12,000 people were on or about the river every pleasant day in the season. He also filed letters from eight physicians relative to the prevalence of malaria along the river lands.

Mayor Hatfield said that as the state had taken this river for a water park it was for the state to care for it and not allow it to become a menace to health.

Representative Ellis spoke of the particularly bad condition at the Weston bridge.

Street Commissioner Ross said that he had known the river for 40 years and that nothing had been done to improve it during that time. From two to four feet of decayed matter should be dredged out and spread on the banks and planted with shrubs.

Mr. G. M. Fliske spoke of the raising of $10,000 for purchase of the Anurndale Park, now a part of the Metropolitan system.

Mr. C. A. Sylvester for the Norumbega Park Company, with 3200 feet of river front, said that they had $290,000 invested with a new theatre to cost $50,000 now being erected and that 8000 people was the average daily attendance during the park season.

Mr. Alberte said that the park patronage came from all over Greater Boston, and that at times the vapors from the river were extremely depressing. The launches churned up the river bottom in many instances. The company had done considerable dredging around its property, but he viewed the conditions with great apprehension.

Other speakers in favor were Mayor Walker and Representatives Tufts and Turner and City Engineer Brewer and Dr. W. Z. Jarvis of Waltham.

Mr. G. A. Sylvester, chairman of the selectmen of Wellesley, believed the work should be done at state expense, but desired it continued to the Lower Falls section.

Mr. Bernard Early opposed the bill in so far as it did not go up the river as far as Hemlock Gorge, and said that the sanitary condition of the river had been under consideration since the state Board of Health in 1896.

Assistant City Solicitor Spring said that the matter of health was the only argument for this expenditure and thought it should be taken up locally. If the Metropolitan Park Commission will favor the project, however, he believed that Boston would not object to it.

Bills in which Newton is interested have been reported by the committee on cities, including that to widen River street, to amend charter so that Mayor can remove city officials without consent of the Board of Aldermen and to reduce the membership of the school committee. The last bill was amended as I intimated last week so that the referendum shall be held on the state election and if accepted the act takes effect at the next city election. Assurances have also been given the city representatives that the bill to reimburse a portion of the cost of the independent manual training school will also be favorably reported. Newton asked that one-third of its expense should be reimbursed under the statute in force when the school was established and the committee on education recognize the force of the claim. This is the school whose expenses are being paid by an "unknown" citizen of Newton.

The hearing on the bill to annex a large part of this city to Boston to satisfy the sentimentality of Boston College will be heard next Tuesday at 10:30 o'clock by the committee on cities. The hearing on the proposed parkway bill will be heard by the Metropolitan affairs committee on Wednesday at the same hour. Representative Boland informs me that the propositions pending before the Metropolitan affairs committee total over one hundred million dollars, so that the parkway scheme and even the meritorious Charles river improvement matter are hardly probable to receive a favorable report.

Mr. L. R. Speare was a speaker at the hearing on the bill to require all vehicles to carry lights at night.

An interesting hearing was held this week on the proposition advanced by Haverhill that the state should reimburse cities and towns for the expense of soldiers' relief. It is said that the expense would be something like $750,000. The expense to Newton is about $1800, and if taken by the state would save us about $300, as our proportion of the state tax would be about $1500 or less.

ORCHARD DEVELOPMENT.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the New England Orchard Company in another column of this paper, which is organized for the purpose of developing commercial orchards throughout New England on an extensive scale. The separate orchard properties will be offered to investors who may purchase a one-half acre interest or more on the easy payment plan. The advantages of such a co-operative plan will be readily seen as the whole orchard property is managed as an entirety, the small holder receiving the same benefits in the way of machine spraying, packing, grading and marketing as the large holder. To the salaried man or the capitalist such an investment should prove ideal, as the returns are constantly increasing and an investment in orchard properties now will be bringing in dividends long after all the gold mines now in operation have become exhausted.

OBSERVES BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Caroline J. Barker of West Newton celebrated her 83d birthday Saturday at her home in "The Caroline" apartments, about 50 of her relatives giving her a very pleasant surprise. She is the oldest resident of West Newton, who has passed her whole life in the city.

Mrs. Barker is one of a family of 10 children, six of whom are now living. They are Mrs. Elizabeth Curry, Mrs. Sarah Sanger, Mrs. Lucy T. Sanger, Mrs. Adella Trowbridge, Mr. Francis E. Jenison and herself. The combined ages of the six are 458 years, an average of 76 years. Two only of the family have moved away from Newton, Elizabeth, the older one who is 84, and Sarah, who is only one year younger than Mrs. Barker.

The latter has been a member of the Second Congregational Church of West Newton for 63 years and is now the oldest living member and a regular attendant.

NEW PLAYGROUND.

Most satisfactory reports regarding the proposed playground were made at the annual meeting of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association last Monday evening in Hyde School hall of that village. The playground fund of the association amounting to $1600 was appropriated and subscriptions of about $2700 more were announced, making a total of $4300 towards the purchase of land bounded on Winchester and Dedham streets and containing about ten acres. This land is within five minutes' walk of the center of the village and is easily available for playground purposes.

These officers were re-elected: President, Charles F. Johnson, Jr.; vice-president, Frank L. Richardson; treasurer, Albert H. Mellen; secretary, W. G. Norris; executive committee, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Hyward and Mr. and Mrs. E. Channing Bouve.

Y. M. C. A.

Next Sunday at 3:15 Rev. Albert Hammett has something of value to say to young men.

On the following Sunday the Mac-Watters Quartet will give a sacred concert.

The conference of Religious Workers will be held at the association March 22. Workers from every church in Newton are invited to attend. The speakers will be State Secretaries Gibson and Whitmore and prominent laymen of the state committee. Sessions begin in the afternoon.

noon, closing with a supper in the evening.

BOYS DEPARTMENT.

The boys' department will hold a dual meet with the boys' department of Cambridge, Saturday evening at 9:30. The boys participating will be from 12 to 18 years of age. This meet promises to be very interesting. The chief object is to give the boy an opportunity to try his strength and ability in an athletic way and to bring him in contact with boys from other cities. The relatives and friends of the boys of Newton are cordially invited to witness this meet from the balcony.

The regular Camera Club meeting was held Tuesday evening, March 1, at the association, and those who attended enjoyed the splendid talk given by Mr. Ellis Moore. On Tuesday, March 15, a representative of the Camera Club will give a talk before the Camera Club.

There will be a regular meeting of the Stamp Club Monday, March 2, at 4:15 p. m.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

The boys' department sent an athletic team to compete for the boys' state championship at Quincy last Saturday afternoon. The following were point winners for Newton: Francis Shanley won second place in the shotput, Karl Rogers second place in the 15-yard dash; Frank Oliver third place in pull-ups and third place in the potato race, making a total of eight points. Lynn Y. M. C. A. won the meet.

The first and second teams played at Quincy last Saturday night and lost both games. The basketball season will close March 16, games being played here March 9 and the above date.

The apparatus exercises are out for the W. M. C. A. and those wishing to compete may have copy of same.

Castle Square Theatre—Another week of "The Spitfire" at the Castle Square will be necessary to satisfy the curiosity over this new comedy by Edward Peple which Mr. Craig has given its first production on any stage. From first to last it is a delightful entertainment and the novelty of its scenes is only equalled by the humor of its dialogue and situations. Nothing is more enjoyable, both in a novel and in a play, than the romance and sensation of the sea, and in "The Spitfire" the audience is taken clear across the Atlantic Ocean from France to America. "The Spitfire," as a matter of fact, is a play in which laughter is the dominant note, and the audience at the Castle Square are responding twice a day to its vigorous and piquant humor.

ALUMNI ORGANIZE.

The graduates of the commercial department of the Newton High School for the past five years met in the Technical High School last Saturday evening and formed an Alumni Association to be known as the Newton High School Alumni Association. These officers were elected: President, Mr. Frank Lewis; vice-president, Miss Kathleen Nolan; secretary, Miss Helen Bosworth; treasurer, Mr. Harold P. Young; trustees, Messrs. William Peppier, three years; James McInerney, two years, and John Leonard, one year.

About 75 were present and remarks were made by Headmasters Adams and Kirschner, and Messrs. Maxim and Thurber. Refreshments were served and an inspection of the building followed.

We believe that we are today nearer our customers and the people of Newton Centre than ever before. We have studied carefully the wants that are likely to come to them, and we have planned our stock and lines of work accordingly. It is not now a question of whether we can suit the customer, but of what of our great variety the CUSTOMER prefers. This is a broad statement,—we realize that. But knowing what we have, what we can get immediately, and what we can do, we have no hesitation in making it. Will you prove it for yourself?

Attach a Tel-Electric Piano-Player

It may be attached to a Grand or an Upright

The Connection
may remain
invisible

The Keyboard is Always Free for Hand Playing

It may be as far from the Piano as Desired

It may be placed in a different room, removed from your piano.
Don't deprive yourself of seeing and hearing this wonderful invention.

It Marks a New Epoch in Piano-Player Production
The perfection of the Tel-Electric Piano-Player marks a new epoch in the production of musical devices. Its wonderful renditions, and, with its extreme simplicity and freedom from the many disadvantages of the pneumatic player, has brought it the unanimous approval of the music world. It is unquestionably the most important musical invention since the introduction of the old Harpsichord several centuries ago.

Operated by Electricity but Controlled by You

The Tel-Electric Piano-Player is operated by electricity, although electric current in the house is not necessary. It is perfect control by easily mastered devices and, contrary to the old style pneumatic players, your feet have nothing to do. It is a player of which you will never tire because it never tires you to play it. It will also, without your assistance, produce all music exactly as indicated by the composer and cut into the music rolls.

Don't Sacrifice Your Piano—Attach a Tel-Electric Player

If you now own a piano do not sacrifice it by receiving a small allowance on the cost of a player piano, but attach a Tel-Electric Piano-Player to it. If you do not own a piano you can secure your favorite instrument from us with a Tel-Electric Piano-Player attached.

In either instance you will save money, and in both you will be buying more enjoyment.

THE NEW BIBLE

The Supreme Revelation of Swedenborg

Higher criticism has questioned the Bible's authority. Is it the Word of God? Is it Rational? Is it Inspired and Holy? What is the Secret of its Power? Is it for the Future?

THEATRES

Park Theatre—The great interest theoregore has taken in William Hodge in "The Man From Home" at the Park Theatre, Boston, does not seem to lessen. On the contrary it appears to be on the increase, if one is to judge by the enormous demand for seats two weeks in advance, now in its 11th week of phenomenal engagement.

"The Man From Home" neither waves the Star Spangled Banner nor screeches spread eagle screams of the red, white and blue, but it is American to the core and it is a solid, meaty, wholesome core. With both a literary force and vitality in its heart, a splendid moral courageously pointed and a story which is rich in humor, delightful in romance and satire and heartening vigorously with melodrama of choicest theatricalism, "The Man From Home" has an intense appeal for every sort of amusement seeker from the frivolous to the thinker, from the scoffer to the patriot.

Beautiful scenes complete this handsome and delightful entertainment to which enthusiastic crowds flock at every performance.

Keith's Theatre—Were it not for the fact that the bills at Keith's from week to week are entirely changed in character, it would be almost impossible to understand how Mr. Keith can keep up the present standard in vaudeville. The coming week, for instance, will have Joseph Hart's big production, "The Futurity Winner," a stirring melodrama with an exciting horse race for a finish. The company numbers 15 people and the principal scene which represents the quarter stretch at Sheephead Bay with three Kentucky thoroughbreds struggling for supremacy, is one of the most effective staged in years. On the same bill will be Flo Irwin in George Ade's most amusing farce, "Mrs. Peckham's Carouse." Still another feature will be the remarkable English boy, Liddle Cliff, who has always been a favorite at this house and now comes with an entirely new repertoire of songs and dances. Also on the bill are Raymond and Caverly, now acknowledged to be the greatest of all German comedians in vaudeville; Linton and Lawrence, in an amusing sketch, the action of which takes place in a piano store; Weight and Dietrich, with singing and comedy; Selma Braatz, the lady juggler; Marabink, the wonderful ice sculptor, and others.

American Music Hall—Bostonians will next week have an opportunity of seeing the widely advertised Parisian sensation, "The Goose," which will be presented for the first time in the Hub. It tells the story of the Paris under world, showing the lowest possible den and the manner in which the social outcasts enjoy themselves. It also introduces the "Black Dance," which is the climax of dancing sensations. A real novelty will be presented by the Royal polo players quartet of experts, who use bicycles in the game instead of horses. The trisero made with the front and rear wheels only and many skillful goals are shot. The Empire City Quartet made such a favorable impression last week that the management has wisely decided to hold it over for another week. A genuine thriller is promised in the appearance of "Speedy," the remarkable high diver who came his wonderful act with a hair-raising dive from the top of the proscenium arch. Other acts on the all-star bill will be Hallen and Hayes, known as the Daffy Dancing Comedians; Larch and assistant, in novel juggling feats; Bessie Leonard, in singing imitations, and three other of vaudeville's headline features.

LODGES.

Newton Lodge No. 110, Knights of Pythias, will hold a public meeting in their lodge room, Odd Fellows' Hall, Washington street, West Newton, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The grand chancellor will be present and he has invited some of the best speakers in the Grand Domain to accompany him. His Honor the Mayor, a member of Newton Lodge, has been invited to preside. The subject of the evening will be the work and objects of the order. The public is cordially invited.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

To the clubs who are particularly interested in forestry and conservation
the statement, issued this week, that Secretary Ballinger has revoked the
permit given the city of San Francisco
to take the Hetch-Hetchy Valley for a reservoir, will be welcomed with great satisfaction. Let the clubs keep up their courage and their unrelenting zeal until an Appalachian Forest Reserve is an accomplished fact. A dynamite bomb is sometimes needed
to break up a jam of logs or ice in a river, but the constant flow of the stream also has a tremendous force,
not perceptible at first, but apparent
in the course of time. If we are unable to use the dynamite, we can at least keep everlastingly at it, and,
like the constant flow of the stream,
bring about results in the lapse of years. Let us hope, however, that it will come before it is too late to save
at least some standing timber. Should such a calamity befall us, we can, of
course, plant new trees for the generations to come to enjoy. But, let us hope for the best, and—as some one
says—expect the worst. A little time
will show whether or not we can hope
for anything this year.

"Cakes, candies and bonbons" is
the subject of Miss Howard's lecture
at the Technical High School on Saturday morning under the auspices of
the Newton Centre Woman's Club.
The lecture scheduled for March 7
before the Waban Woman's Club will be given by Dr. Peter H. Goldsmith,
his subject, "Some Mexican Aborig-
nes."

At the monthly meeting of the Newton Mother's Club to be held with
Mrs. F. B. Jones, 128 Chestnut street,
West Newton, on March 7, at three o'clock, Rev. Frederick Allen, president of the Watch and Ward Society,
will speak of "Work among the Mothers
of Boston."

On March 8, Mrs. Ellen H. Richards
of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will speak upon "Home Training of Girls" in the course of household economics lectures under
the auspices of the Newton Centre
Woman's Club.

On Wednesday morning before the
Social Science Club, Charles Campbell
secretary of the Massachusetts Commission for the blind, will speak of the work of the Commission and there
will be an exhibition of handwork.
Guests may be invited.

The current events class of the Newtonville Woman's Guild will meet
on March 10 at 10:45.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold a sale of fancy
articles, cake and candy in connection
with their meeting on March 11. Dr.
Richard Cabot, will address the club
on "Boston 1915." The meeting will be open to the public and the proceeds
of the sale will go to increase the Clubhouse Fund.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club enjoyed an unusually
attractive program at their meeting
on Friday, February 25. A musicale
occupied the first of the afternoon,
consisting of violin selections by Mrs.
Harrison White Conner and a group
of songs of childhood by Whippley
rendered by Mrs. Minnie Little Long-
ley. Both ladies are artists in their profession and are members of the Macdowell and Chromatic Clubs of Boston.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

To the clubs who are particularly
interested in forestry and conservation
the statement, issued this week, that Secretary Ballinger has revoked the
permit given the city of San Francisco
to take the Hetch-Hetchy Valley for a
reservoir, will be welcomed with
great satisfaction. Let the clubs keep
up their courage and their unrelent-
ing zeal until an Appalachian Forest
Reserve is an accomplished fact. A
dynamite bomb is sometimes needed
to break up a jam of logs or ice in a
river, but the constant flow of the
stream also has a tremendous force,
not perceptible at first, but apparent
in the course of time. If we are unable to use the dynamite, we can at
least keep everlastingly at it, and,
like the constant flow of the stream,
bring about results in the lapse of
years. Let us hope, however, that it
will come before it is too late to save
at least some standing timber. Should
such a calamity befall us, we can, of
course, plant new trees for the generations to come to enjoy. But, let us
hope for the best, and—as some one
says—expect the worst. A little time
will show whether or not we can hope
for anything this year.

"Cakes, candies and bonbons" is
the subject of Miss Howard's lecture
at the Technical High School on Saturday morning under the auspices of
the Newton Centre Woman's Club.
The lecture scheduled for March 7
before the Waban Woman's Club will
be given by Dr. Peter H. Goldsmith,
his subject, "Some Mexican Aborig-
nes."

At the monthly meeting of the Newton Mother's Club to be held with
Mrs. F. B. Jones, 128 Chestnut street,
West Newton, on March 7, at three o'clock, Rev. Frederick Allen, president of the Watch and Ward Society,
will speak of "Work among the Mothers
of Boston."

On March 8, Mrs. Ellen H. Richards
of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will speak upon "Home Training of Girls" in the course of
household economics lectures under
the auspices of the Newton Centre
Woman's Club.

On Wednesday morning before the
Social Science Club, Charles Campbell
secretary of the Massachusetts Commission for the blind, will speak of
the work of the Commission and there
will be an exhibition of handwork.
Guests may be invited.

Newtonville Woman's Guild will meet
on March 10 at 10:45.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold a sale of fancy
articles, cake and candy in connection
with their meeting on March 11. Dr.
Richard Cabot, will address the club
on "Boston 1915." The meeting will
be open to the public and the proceeds
of the sale will go to increase the Clubhouse Fund.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club enjoyed an unusually
attractive program at their meeting
on Friday, February 25. A musicale
occupied the first of the afternoon,
consisting of violin selections by Mrs.
Harrison White Conner and a group
rendered by Mrs. Minnie Little Long-
ley. Both ladies are artists in their profession and are members of the Macdowell and Chromatic Clubs of Boston.

For the literary part of the program Mrs. S. L. Eaton of Newton

of George Eliot and Mrs. C. H. Keeler read "The Choir Invisible." At the close a Colonial Tea was served by

NEW PLAY.

The second performance of the Entertainment Club to be presented in Channing Church parlors next Tuesday at eight o'clock will be of special interest on account of the local talent participating.

"Zerubbabel's Second Wife," a one-act farce by Emma E. Brewster, will open the evening's entertainment, the characters being taken by Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer as Miss Matilda Wiggin; Miss Ruth Cutler as Peggy, her maid, and Mr. Horace C. Harrington as Deacon Zerubbabel Scrubber.

This will be followed by "The Day that Lincoln Died," a one-act piece written by Mr. Prescott Warren of Newton, with the collaboration of Mr. Will Hutchins of Deerfield. The action takes place in a farmyard near a remote village in Maine. The time is late forenoon, April 15, 1865. The theme represents the effect of the assassination of Lincoln when the news is broken to the group of simple, loyal, country folk. The leading figure is George Rockwood, a young soldier, who has just returned. For a courageous exploit at the front he had been personally thanked at the White House by the President. It is George's simple account of this interview, coming only a moment before the awful news, which makes the central moment of the play. The love interest is prettily interwoven and the "villain," George's uncle, is represented as a rich old copperhead.

The characters in this play will be assumed by Mr. Prescott Warren as Squire Rockwood, Mr. James H. Simson as George, his son; Mr. Charles H. Carpenter as Ezra Middleton, Mr. George M. Nash as Lawyer Bradley, Mr. Wallis W. Webster as Bud Wilber, Mrs. A. W. Blakemore as Mrs. Rockwood, Miss Marjorie Adams as Susie Bradley.

The evening's performance will be well rounded out with a musical program by club members.

NEW PLAY BY NEWTON AUTHOR

The parlors of Channing Church were well filled with members and friends of the Entertainment Club Tuesday evening, when the second entertainment of the season was given. An amusing one-act farce entitled "Zerubbabel's Second Wife" was presented, the characters being well taken by Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer, Miss Ruth Cutler and Mr. Horace C. Harrington. During the intermission a musical program was rendered consisting of vocal duets by Mrs. Ralph C. Emery and Mrs. Henry T. Wade and instrumental selections by Miss Dorothy Simson, piano, and Messrs. Brewer G. Whitmore and Frederick de Souver, violins. Mrs. Alice Codrington was the accompanist. The second part of the program was of special interest as the one-act drama, "The Day that Lincoln Died," was written by Mr. Prescott Warren of Newton in co-operation with Mr. William Hutchins of Deerfield, Me. The interest does not lax throughout the act, the pretty rural scene with the simple country folk, the arrival of the soldier son, the threatened foreclosure of the mortgage on the old farm and the payment of the interest by the son, taking practically all of his hard-earned savings, leads up to the climax when the announcement of President Lincoln's assassination comes at the close of the soldier's account of his interview with the President at the White House when he was thanked for a brave duty he had performed at the front. The stillness of the audience until the end and the applause which followed was a compliment to the author and those taking the parts. Mr. Warren appeared but, declining to make a speech, simply thanked his friends for their approval. Mr. Warren as Squire Rockwood, Mrs. A. W. Baker as Mrs. Rockwood, Mr. James H. Simpson as George Rockwood, the son; Mr. Charles H. Carpenter as Ezra Middleton, the rich old copperhead uncle; Mr. George W. Nash as Lawyer Bradley; Miss Marjorie Adams as Susie Bradley, the daughter and the sweetheart of George, and Mr. Willis W. Webber as Bud Wilder, all did excellent work and contributed largely to the success of the performance.

MRS. SHERMAN DEAD.

Mrs. Helen M. Sherman, widow of the late Jacob Sherman, passed away Saturday at the home of her daughter Mrs. G. Pray Smith, on Watertown street. She was a native of Salisbury, N. H., where she was born 74 years ago. Funeral services were held from the family residence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. Jay T. Stocking, pastor of Central Church. The burial was in Newton Cemetery.

FINDS FAULT SLENDID CONDITION

A largely attended meeting of the Newton City Employees' Union was held in Hibernian Hall, Nonantum square, Newton, on Sunday afternoon, President McFadden in the chair. After a general discussion of local problems affecting the employees Daniel O'Connell spoke in part as follows: "It has been customary in other years, particularly at the opening of spring, to have all the working force of the city employed, but at this time not only are the men not employed but during the winter less men were employed than ever before. "There must be some grave reason, and men closely allied with the different departments are in a position to know that a sufficient outlay of money has been and is now being made needlessly. At the same time nothing is being done to relieve the distress of working men who are no longer in positions to bring up their families in a way to conform with requirements of modern civilization owing to the high cost of living. "The city ledgers are closed at a time when more work could be accomplished than in the broiling heat of summer. "During 1909 enormous expenditures were made for oiling the streets for the pleasure of automobilists, but this proved a detriment because the oil used cost many automobilists the loss of wearing apparel. "A large number of automobiles have been bought for the city departments, which in itself is a good thing and will ultimately tend to reduce taxation. But when such automobiles are used for pleasure there is a needless expenditure for gasoline or other expenses, which the taxpayers must pay. "Taxpayers are familiar with the fact that some heads of departments use city automobiles and the city's gasoline in attending baseball and football games, and for other pleasure trips. It is high time that the citizens should awake and in no uncertain manner change the existing conditions. "Mr. O'Connell's address was received with vigorous applause by the union. It was announced that the organization will in a few days send a committee to City Hall to confer with officials in an effort to secure steady work for its members. —Watch for Oils Brothers Company's anniversary sale next week, beginning Wednesday, March 16, and ending Saturday, March 19.

LODGES.

Officers of Tennyson Rebekah Lodge state that the item last week associating their names with a rummage sale held in Newtonville recently to aid in organizing a new lodge, was a mistake and that they had no interest in the sale.

CRYSTAL WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace I. Lamson observed the 15th anniversary of their wedding last Monday evening with a largely attended reception at their home, 206 Waltham street, West Newton. The house was most attractively decorated throughout with a lavish display of flowers and greenery. The hall was decorated with laurel and jonquils, the parlor, where the orchestra played behind a screen of palms, was in Southern style and white carnations; the library, where Mr. and Mrs. Lamson received their guests, was in Southern style and pink roses and the dining room was beautiful in Southern style and red carnations. One of the striking features of the dining table was an immense wedding cake, weighing 45 pounds. The guests, to the number of 160, were from Newton, Boston, Brookline and Waltham and were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Lamson by Representative Thomas W. White and Messrs. George H. Snyder of Newton, John A. Cookidge, Jr. of Waltham and Edward Campbell of Boston. Mrs. Lamson wore white crepe de chine over white silk and pearl trimmings. Mr. and Mrs. Lamson were presented with many beautiful pieces of cut glass, making a most brilliant display. Mr. and Mrs. Lamson were married at Rockland, Me., on March 7, 1895, and have been residents of West Newton for the past seven years.

UNITARIAN CLUB.

The Unitarian Club will meet at the Newton Centre Unitarian Church next Thursday evening, March 17. The speaker will be Rev. Charles W. Wendte, D. D., of Newton, a former minister of the Newton Centre church, and his subject will be "Reminiscences of Theodore Parker, Wendell Phillips and Thomas Starr King," with all of whom Dr. Wendte was personally acquainted. The subject is of especial timeliness because of this year being the centennial anniversary of Theodore Parker's birth, as well as the semi-centennial of his death. The public are invited to hear the address, which will be given at 8 p. m.

W. C. T. U.

The Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union is to entertain on Friday, March 18, the presidents of all the local unions of Middlesex county, at the Baptist Immanuel Church, Newton. There will be an all-day session, the presidents, about 40, assembling at 10 a. m. for a business meeting. At noon an hour will be taken for lunch furnished by a committee of which Mrs. Sylvester Durgin is chairman. At 2:30 the meeting will be open to the public, and it is hoped that Newton, which is so consistently a no-license town, will make this public meeting a success. There will be several interesting speakers and appropriate music.

Y. M. C. A.

A concert will be given by the MacWatters Quartet of Boston University on Sunday afternoon at 3.15. One of the members of the quartet will give a brief address. Men and women are invited. Sixteen new members were voted in at the last Board Meeting. 37 renewals were also recorded. The Annual State Athletic meet of the Associations of Mass. and R. I. will be held in the "Tech" gymnasium, March 19th. C. V. Moore is chairman of the committee which has the meet in charge. A number of Newton athletes will enter. Two important events in the Physical Department will be of interest to many. The Wall Trophy meet on March 26th will be the first contest for the new cup offered by Mr. A. H. Wallt. On March 30 and 31 there will be a gymnasium carnival in the gymnasium. The unknown clown will be in evidence again and many new features and drills will be added to this year's program. This annual exhibition of the work of the Physical Department is well worth seeing. Members are asked to keep in mind the Religious Conference for Men and Boys at the Association, March 22. Lewis A. Crockett will give the address at the supper.

LOSE CASE

The findings of the Massachusetts Railroad Commission on the recent protest of residents of Auburndale on the winter schedule of street car service was announced this week as follows: "The petitioners complain of the infrequency of car service on the Auburndale line, so called, after 7:30 p. m. At the hearing it appeared that the service was half hourly during the winter season. The complaint raises two questions: the insufficiency of the service between Lake and Centre streets, and the service beyond Centre street in the direction of Auburndale. At the hearing the company agreed to restore the 15-minute service between Lake and Centre streets, and this service is now in operation. After the hearing, at the request of the board, the company filed reports showing the amount of traffic after 7:10 p. m. for ten days between Centre street and Auburndale in both directions. A study of these returns, taken in connection with the service already restored, does not show a sufficient demand of the travelling public for the restoration of the 15-minute service from Centre street to Auburndale.

"A demand is disclosed, however, for additional service to and from the Brae Burn Country Club upon occasions when winter sports or other events are taking place. While this demand must of necessity depend in some part upon weather conditions, we recommend that such additional service as will meet it be installed."

D. R. ELECTS OFFICERS

The Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles L. Pearson on Tuesday, March 8, 1910, the regent, Miss Clara J. Coburn, presiding. The treasurer reported a good balance on hand, also that the sum of $1,003 had been raised in the last two years for the Newton Memorial for the soldiers from Newton who fought in the Revolution. For other patriotic work the chapter has given in its 13 years of existence $981.66 and for Berea College and educational work $488.57, making a total of $2,473.23 for patriotic and educational purposes. The enclosed list of officers were unanimously elected: Regent, Mrs. George W. Priest; vice-regents, Mrs. Albert S. Hutchinson, Mrs. Francis Murdock, Mrs. John H. Sanborn; recording secretary, Mrs. Howard R. Meson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Franklin Smith; assistant corresponding secretary, Miss Elizabeth S. Fuller; treasurer, Mrs. Charles O. They will then go to Marblehead for the summer months and in the winter will reside in Boston.

—The regular monthly social was held by the ladies of the Methodist Church in the ladies' parlor last Wednesday evening. It was of special interest in the fact that it was the 35th anniversary of the founding of Methodism in this village. After a bountiful supper had been eaten Dr. Charles M. Melden invited Dr. Charles H. Rice, district superintendent, to lead in prayer, after which Dr. William P. Cooke was introduced as toastmaster. The toasts were responded to by Mr. Lewis R. Spears, who claims to have the honor of being the first janitor, while the Rev. Dr. Perkins spoke in the capacity of being the first pastor. Rev. Drs. Blaney, Phinney and Huntington also spoke, while letters of regret were read from Rev. Drs. Flewelling, Hughes and Freeman. Mr. Herbert A. Thayer rendered several vocal solos, being accompanied by his daughter on the piano. Miss Sophia Muldoon also sang, who was accompanied by Miss Kathryn M. Murray on the piano, while Miss Agnes B. Trowbridge of Newton played several violin solos. The object of the meeting was to see if the amount which was owed on the church for current expenses of the past year had been raised. The church and its many friends were gratified to know that about $1800 was pledged. Over 200 were present at the memorial and enjoyable gathering.

ALDERMEN HOLD LIVELY SESSION

The new members of the Board of Aldermen continue to vary the usual aldermanic calm by pertinent questions regarding matters placed before them for action. Alderman Towle on Monday night even ventured to criticize that most sacred structure, the new Technical High School, and stated that he believed the proposed retaining wall to cost nearly $8000 was a piece of extravagance. His statement opened the way for others and the board finally tabled the order to issue bonds, of which this piece of work was a portion, and deferred final action until the next meeting.

On account of a brief docket and comparatively unimportant matters it was believed that the session would be uneventful, but the formal hearings developed more or less opposition and the debate on the Technical High School became general, so that it was after 9 o'clock before the board adjourned.

President Jones was in the chair and Aldermen Avery, Barker, Blake, Burr, Cox, Doherty, Gray, Heard, Leonard, Lyons, Moore, Stone, Sullivan and Towle were present.

Mrs. E. F. Buerk opposed by letter the petition of the Telephone Company for a pole on Belmont street, and Messrs. C. S. Lurtweller and James M. Beck spoke in opposition to poles on Duncklee street, desired by the Edison Company. Mr. Howard for the company stated that these poles were for the purpose of enabling the company to light the street. Mr. H. S. Allen for the Telephone Company spoke on the petition of the Edison Company for poles on Hammond street to the effect that this line of poles was owned jointly by the Telephone and Edison Companies and that action should be deferred until the two companies had come to some agreement. On the petition of the Edison Company for poles on Ruthven road, Alderman Heard filed remonstrances from Clara Howard, Alice D. Clark and E. B. Kent. No one appeared at hearings on petitions of the Edison Company for poles on Gibbs street, Farlow road and for attachments on Kaposia street and Beacon street.

Alderman Stone drew three traverse jurors for service on March 14 as follows: William T. May, Gray Cliff road; Herbert E. Smith, Auburndale avenue and Jesse A. Leonard, Commonwealth avenue.

The appointments of Dr. C. A. Boutelle as Inspector of Animals and of Benjamin F. Butler as assistant assessor in Ward 5 were laid over under the rules.

Communications from the Public Buildings Commissioner relative to application of Steve Rocklan to erect a blacksmith shop on Mechanic and Cheney streets of the City Engineer submitting various sewer schedules, of the Street Commissioner reporting completion of Plymouth road, Bradford road, Carver road, Endicott street and Bellingham street at a cost of $6941, and of the City Solicitor rendering his opinion that the proposed order authorizing the Forest Commissioner to perform work on private estates was not legal, were severally referred.

Communications from Governor Draper that the Westfield Tubercular Sanatorium was opened for patients and from the Mass. Railroad Commissioners refusing to require additional service on the Auburndale-Lake street line of cars were placed on file.

All the Newtons 296 Walnut St., Newtonville

Petitions of Mrs. Emma A. Hawkes for Soldiers' Relief, of John Purcell to move building from Alden Court to James street, of John J. Bird for liquor transportation permit, of Horace Scofield for common victualer license for lunch cart, on Centre street, of William J. Cosens for sewer in Woodward street, of E. W. Warren and others for purchase of land adjoining Hyde school and of an undecipherable Italian for a sewer in Hawthorne street were referred. Petitions of George D. Diamond for Common Victualer license, 1373 Washington street of Andrew Prior, J. H. Heustis and Chas. H. Sheridan for appointment as public weighers were granted.

Hearings on March 21 were assigned on petitions of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Summer street and for poles on Parker street, and of the Edison Co. for poles on Bristol road.

Hearings were assigned on April 4 on petitions to keep gasoline by Herbert E. Fales, Highland street; Arthur E. Mason, Pine Ridge road; Edmund E. Hills, Lake avenue; Joseph T. Eddy, Fairfax street and on petition of H. C. Little to locate a 15 H. P. boiler at 1425 Washington street.

On recommendation of committee, hearings were ordered for March 21 on recommendation of Forest Commissioner that certain trees be removed, numbers were ordered assigned on numerous streets and the Telephone Company granted attachments on Washington street.

Judge Marcus Morton, Highland avenue, Mrs. Geo. S. Page, Franklin street, Dr. Geo. E. May, Commonwealth avenue and Mr. J. L. Damon, Putnam street were granted permission to keep gasoline and the Common Victualer licenses held by Chas. A. Baker and Carl G. Walsh were revoked.

A verbal report was made by the Select Committee on the proposed annexation of a portion of Chestnut Hill to Boston and a resolve opposing the passage of the bill by the Legislature was adopted.

On the order to authorize the issue of $24,000 Technical High School bonds, Alderman Towle said that he had voted for the order in committee under a misapprehension of facts and believed that the portion of the order carrying $8000 for a retaining wall at the building was a gross waste of money. The work had not been done and he asked that the order be divided. President Jones ruled that the order could not be divided and Alderman Towle asked that it be postponed until the next meeting or reconsidered. Alderman Leonard said that last year's board had considered it important to construct this wall. Alderman Avery thought that the sale of the bonds had already been made, but Alderman Burr stated that the sale had been made subject to the passage of this order.

President Jones then took the floor with Vice-President Doherty in the chair and said the matter was brought up only after a visit of the full board and the Mayor to the grounds last fall and was given most careful consideration. It is the following out of the recommendation of Mr. Olmsted, who has laid out the entire tract. He felt that it was imperative that some work should be done to properly treat the surroundings of the Technical School. It was the opinion of the architect of the building that the work should be done in this way. It was explained to the committee and the board that the work could be done in a much cheaper way, but it was believed that the best was none too good after all the money we have spent on the Technical School. It was the opinion of the committee on public works that the retaining wall as provided for should be built, and it was the unanimous opinion of the board of 1909 that it should be built. I do not know whether the contract has been let or not and I earnestly hope that no action will be taken this evening looking toward turning back.

Alderman Stone endorsed the remarks of the president and believed that as the land cost practically nothing it was due the donors to consider their wishes in the laying out of the grounds.

Alderman Heard favored delay and thought the new members should be given an opportunity to investigate the matter.

Alderman Gray opposed the motion to recommit as the matter had had careful consideration in 1909.

After remarks by Aldermen Doherty and Avery the order was laid on the table on motion of Alderman Burr.

THE DOG FISH PROBLEM.

(By Arthur H. Bailey, Newton, Mass.)

Dog Fish. Webster's Unabridged Dictionary defines dog fish as "a name given to several species of shark, as the spotted shark, or greater dog fish, the piked or horned dog fish."

Dog fishes of Europe are similar to the American species and are known in England as piked dog fish; the French name is scombre or more commonly "Chien de mer" and "Chleumarin," meaning sea dog; the Germans call it "Handhai" (dog shark); the Italians "Squalorot."

That the dog fish is destined to become a desirable food fish is no more improbable than was that of blue fish years ago, for there are those living today who can remember when blue fish were so plenty that not being considered fit for food they were spread on the land as a fertilizer. In 1881 I was the first to can blue fish, putting it up in cans the same as salmon and by many it was liked better than salmon, and in 1882 I canned at Dennisport, Mass., some 1500 cases of 48-1 lb. cans, and in 1883 some 5000 cases or more and found a ready market for the goods, but in 1884 the blue fish left our coast and were so scarce that they commanded a price far above what a canner could afford to pay. One Saturday in June, 1883, I had landed at my cannery factory nearly 20,000 pounds of blue fish, which is as far as I am aware the largest landing in any one day of blue fish anywhere. I have seen when I was a boy in my native town of Little Compton, R. I., soup sold at 25 cents per barrel to the farmers to spread on the land as a fertilizer, but of late years advanced methods for storing this (and this holds good of other fish also) delicious food causes them, as the people have demanded them, to command a price of $5 a barrel or more in large quantities to the wholesale trade. Of late years freezers have been erected at various points on our coast, especially to put in cold storage not only many kinds of fish used as food by the American people, but various kinds of fish for bait by those large vessels which make a business of catching cod, haddock, hake, pollock, etc., for the market. I do not consider the Creator has put any fish in the sea but what are good for food, but we as a people are not educated up to the point of knowing about the food qualities of the various species. I might elaborate on other species of fish to show how great the demand is for those kinds which years ago were not eaten to any extent, but the purpose of this article is to predict that dog fish, perhaps not under that name, will in a few years be in large demand for food.

At a dinner of gentlemen connected with the department of biology of the Institute of Technology, Boston, and the Massachusetts Fish and Game Commission, on Dec. 18, 1907, canned dog fish was served and pronounced very good by all present. This fish I furnished and I have a letter before me from the acting president of the Biological Society of the M. I. T., thanking me for my furnishing the same. I have given samples of fresh dog fish to various friends and all have pronounced it excellent. The immense damage that the dog fish are doing to our fisheries calls for some means of utilizing them and for some years I have made it a study. The skins of dog fish are peculiar. They are very good to remove, the flesh adhering so close as to tear the meat of the fish, and this is important to avoid, but as yet I have not solved this problem. It is desired to remove the skins as whole as possible so they can be tanned for use. I have had some dog fish skins tanned and they are very strong, it being next to impossible to tear them and if they can be taken off entire and without holes some use can no doubt be made of them for commercial purposes. The meat of the dog fish is good fresh, pickled, canned or smoked. The livers make fine oil for dressing leather or for mixing with other oils. The peritoneum, it is hoped, can be utilized for surgical dressings in place of the peritoneum from cattle which costs much to free from fat and a large corporation in New Jersey stands ready to experiment on the peritoneum when I can furnish them with a suitable supply. The eggs of this piked or horned dog fish very much resembles the yolk of hen's eggs and it has been cooked and pronounced palatable, but experiments are now going on to see if it can be used for tanning leather in place of the yolk of hen's eggs. After all of these parts of the dog fish are utilized there is only left such parts as are fit for fertilizer or possibly for making glue. I have been asked if dog fish are so good as food, why they are not in demand, and to all such inquiries I have replied that they have never been brought to the attention of the consumer as a desirable food fish and too their name is against them and under some other name they no doubt will be in good demand. The Boston Globe of Oct. 28, 1907, says: "Before the fisheries bureau can persuade the public to eat dog fish the little sharks will have to have another name." In an article on "Dog Fish" to or may be used as Food," printed in issue of Boston Globe of Oct. 25, 1907, it is stated "that after a number of experiments the investigators have proved that dog fish is just as palatable as any of the food fish the production of which has made New England famous. In fact it is stated that when dried and salted dog fish can scarcely be told from cod fish even by an expert. It is only a matter of time that keeps dog fish from having its proper place on our tables. The same objection used to be used to cat fish which is now sold under another name and the same applies to horse mackerel, which under that name found few customers, but on a bill of fare under its European name it is eaten with relish by many who would refuse to touch horse mackerel. The new popular haddock, but a few years ago was not looked upon with favor. When it is officially reported that dog fish have done damage estimated at $400,000 a year to the fish industry of Massachusetts in the last few years is it any wonder that I consider if I can have any part in bringing this desirable food fish to the attention of the consumer so they will use them that I consider my time and money in experimental work a good investment? A part of my life work has been devoted to the introduction of new and desirable foods. I was the first to put on the market canned soups especially adapted to family trade. The original Delicious Coconut (Maltby's) it was my privilege to introduce to the trade in 1868 and there are other special foods I might name in the food line. Bailey's 'Extract of Clams' is too well known to comment on here. I hope to this year bring out a new food product, viz., 'Oystercus,' which is a delicious extract of the entire oyster for broth, stew, puree and upon which I have been at work for years and I hope to live to see 'Ungada White Fish,' my new coined name for dog fish, become a popular food.

There is no more attractive suburban town than Newton, — any part of it. The care taken by residents of the town on their grounds and houses is largely responsible for it. And it is a Newton characteristic that this same care is taken in interior arrangement.

Our line of wall papers, hangings and furniture are bought with the idea in mind of making possible these homelike interiors without a city trip. We have nothing that is merely showy, — but everything we carry is marked by its distinctiveness and value for its price.

We carry nothing because it is cheap, — we have much that is inexpensive.

Our work is absolutely right.

SPRING WATER

The coming of spring brings to our mind the possible chances for pollution of our various supplies of drinking water, and as our bodies are composed of nearly 80 per cent of moisture, it certainly is the duty (when you stop to think about it) to replenish the moisture with that which will ensure perfect health, and in order to get a water best suited for that purpose it becomes necessary for one to carefully investigate the analysis and surroundings of the source of supply of the water to be used. The Nobscot Mountain Spring Water is one of the best waters sold and the spring is located in the northern part of the town of Framingham, Mass., about two and one-half miles from Framingham depot, in a location made perfect by nature for a pure water supply. The water comes through crevices in what appears otherwise a solid ledge of granite. It is taken by gravitation 50 feet to the filling station, no reservoir nor pumping being needed. The spring is walled in with granite and brick and is covered by a small house, so there is no possible chance for surface water to seep in. The nearest house to the spring is one-fourth of a mile away. The water for shipping is taken from the spring through a block tin pipe, from a level one and a half feet above the bottom of the spring. The overflow pipe siphons the water from the surface and this produces a gentle agitation which gives the water a proper aeration. The filling station is a frame house 70x30 and is provided with all the best arrangements for sterilizing, washing and filling the carboys, and in all the processes the Nobscot water is used exclusively. A cork is used but once. It is then thrown away. Second-hand corks are neither sightly nor sanitary. All our packages are crated glass filled and corked at the spring. None genuine without our seal. The temperature of the water as it comes from the spring is between 41 and 42 degrees summer and winter. The flow is uniformly 15,000 gallons per day and is not affected by spring freshets or autumn draughts. These two facts, together with the absence of other springs on the mountain side, leads us to believe that the source of this spring is at a great depth. The word "Nobscot" is the Indian for "Plan of falling rocks" and shows how apt they were in naming for the whole easterly side of Nobscot Mountain is a heavily wooded glacial mountain with here and there enormous boulders. Not only is this water as near pure as is possible, but it is also very soft and therefore very beneficial as a trial bottle will convince the most skeptical. Telephone them for a bottle today.

A boil is the result of a tumor in the blood, but few victims see anything funny about it.

SUNDAY LECTURE.

The lecture committee of the New Church, Highland Avenue, Newtonville, announce that the Rev. J. E. Smith of Philadelphia will deliver the final lecture of their winter course in the New Church building, Highland Avenue, opposite the Newton Club grounds, on Sunday evening, March 13, at 7.30. The subject will be "The New Bible the Supreme Revelation of Swedenborg." This lecture, we are advised, is intended to be the complement and fitting conclusion of the course, and in it the lecturer will set forth the crown of the doctrines of the New Church, viz, that the Bible, apart from its appearance as a natural, literal and seemingly human production, has a rational inner spiritual meaning, often entirely different to what it is generally supposed to contain. This meaning puts it beyond the reach of the adverse arguments of the higher critics, agnostics, materialists and other free thinkers and makes it a book absolutely unlike any other book that is known in the world today.

We are informed the Rev. J. E. Smith is eminently fitted for this task, having had many years of training as a preacher and extemporaneous platform speaker—being very apt at illustrating his arguments from science and philosophy and exceedingly ready to answer questions bearing upon the subject of which he treats. On various occasions Mr. Smith has been chosen by his friends of the Philadelphia Ministerial Association to champion the truths of Christianity in debate with free thinkers, agnostics and others in one of the most important arenas of debate in the Eastern States—the Philadelphia Liberal Club.

Those who enjoyed the second lecture in the course on "Immortality" by the Rev. J. K. Smyth of New York, as recently reported briefly in these columns, will undoubtedly wish to hear the series completed by Mr. Smith, who will also preach in the Newtonville New Church in the morning of March 13, at 10.40.

As with previous services the seats are free. There is no collection, all are cordially welcome, and Rev. Mr. Smith will invite and reply to questions at the close of the lecture.

NOTES ON MILLINERY.

Hats! That subject, no other—for the moment—lives. Paris decrees the hat shall be higher, broader, deeper—completely engulfing the tresses grand—built forward, upward and doubly backward. But the "Colonial Dame Cure," dangling gracefully from underneath the bonnet huge, wills it shall no longer be confined after so long a period of retirement.

It is, in essence and in strong accents of velvet on monotonous and in combinations. Ombre velvet ribbons, up the scale of color from deep blue to high treble are new. The old gold is now superseded by a baser metal-copper, harmonized with the old blues, it is fascinating, yet a bit daring. Flowers—just like nature and other modifications of man—the pastel, soft and dulled, sweep all else in trimming aside. The straw used is—"as you like it."

You are invited to see some of the new metallic effects at the shop of Miss Caroline, 486 Boylston street, in the block of the Brunswick Hotel, Boston.

NEWTON.

—The Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Episcopal Church will hold an Easter sale of fancy and domestic articles, food and candy, on March 16, at the home of Mrs. P. B. Howard, 340 Walnut street.

LODGES.

On Tuesday last the Palestine Chapter, No. 114, O. E. S., held its meeting at Masonic Temple and after the initiation and work a charming supper was served by ladies, under the chairmanship of Mrs. M. Carter. Miss Frieda Gerhard and Miss Martha Gifford furnished music at the piano. The matrons and patrons of Veats, Signet and Boston Chapters and other visitors were present and all spent an enjoyable evening.

M. D., of Kirby Insane Hospital, came to an unfortunate but comical end in a tub of water. The other parts were cleverly taken by Walter Paine, Nelson Blomfield, Russell Carter and Stuart Hayden.

The second play was a mock trial, "Judge Oppenheimer's First Case." The judge's part was very well played by Allison Smith. The opposing lawyers, "Scallops" and "Mix," were eloquently taken by Walter Paine and Howard Williams. The witnesses were Lewis Puffer as Elias Long, Alfred Higgins as Bridget Murphy, Justace Adams as Mr. Ananias, Russell Carter as Sammie and Donald Belcher as Sam Butterfield. Mr. Robert Anderson as clerk, Donald Hunt as the prisoner and Stuart Hayden as the plaintiff won applause.

The plays were given under the following management: Donald Birch, business manager; Justace Adams, stage and advertising manager; Walter Paine, ticket manager; and John Allison and Russell Carter, assistant managers.

Birch's Orchestra furnished appropriate music which was greatly appreciated by all.

LETTER CARRIERS' BALL.

Arrangements are already well under way for the annual concert, reunion and dance of the Letter Carriers' Mutual Benefit Association, which this year promises to eclipse anything yet attempted by Uncle Sam's boys in gray.

This year's ball will be held on Thursday, May 5, in Mechanics' building, which will be transformed into a bower of beauty for the occasion, with artistic electrical effects.

This association, starting with a mere handful some 20 years ago, has now assumed quite formidable proportions, embracing about 20 towns and cities, with Boston as a centre. Within two years, Newton, the Weymouths, Quincy, Watertown and Braintree augmented the forces, making some 1500 men eligible for membership, about 1000 of this number being affiliated with the association. Uncle Sam does not pay the carriers when they are sick, but this association pays to its members a weekly sick benefit of $7 for 26 weeks, and a death benefit of $1000. The proceeds of the annual ball is devoted to this purpose. Already the busy workers are bending every energy to make this year's affair a record breaker. The Letter Carriers' Band of 40 pieces is preparing new features and the committees are devising new schemes of entertainment for the big crowd that always looks forward to this peripatetic event with pleasing anticipation.

Invitations have been sent to Governor Draper, Lieutenant-Governor Frothingham, Mayor Fitzgerald, Mayor Hatfield, Postmaster Mansfield and many other city and state officials.

The letter carriers of Newton are united and enthusiastic in making this affair a social and financial success.

LODGES.

The first degree staff of Waban Lodge, I. O. O. F., worked the degree in Lafayette Lodge room at Watertown on Tuesday evening, on nine candidates.

Home Lodge, I. O. O. F., will confer the second degree in Waban Lodge room at Newtonville on Wednesday evening, March 16, on the same candidates.

Blita E. Dow and 100 others have been granted a charter for a Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., at Newtonville, to be instituted some time in April at Odd Fellows' Hall.

A committee from this chapter list, Mrs. C. F. Dow, Mrs. George A. Fewkes, Mrs. A. A. Weeks, Mrs. Edward Wilson, Mrs. Walter Cunningham, Mrs. Henry Toole, Mrs. Helen Merriam, Mrs. Ida Peterson, assisted by Mrs. Laura Jordan, Mrs. Hiram Forbes, Mrs. Marcus Haley, held a rummage sale at Newtonville, where a large sum was realized.

THEATRES

THEATRES

Shubert Theatre—"The Midnight Sons," that whirlwind of mirth, beautiful girls, rich costumes, good taste in color, unique scenic effects, specialties and songs, including "Rings on My Fingers on My Toes," began its second month of phenomenal success at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, last Monday night.

It is the same old story of "all sold out" at the ticket window by 8 o'clock and late comers have to stand. It is much more convenient to take advantage of the fact that seats are on sale two weeks in advance. There are many important features, but the ones always sure to please are the realistic theatre scene, the stage dinner with 100 diners, the funny shoe store scene and the illusion of the Pullman train going at the rate of a mile a minute.

The background is a series of gorgeous stage pictures with big mechanical effects, and altogether it is easily the biggest and best musical comedy production ever seen in Boston.

It is entirely fit for ladies and children to see. The engagement in Boston is very near the end and "The Midnight Sons" will not be seen elsewhere in New England.

Castle Square Theatre—Tom Moore, a hero in real life and the greatest of Irish poets, makes an admirable hero for a play. Some years ago Theodore Burt Sayre wrote a comedy entitled "Tom Moore," based upon certain incidents in the poet's life, and Andrew Black starred in it with no little success. It is this play that John Craig has chosen for the coming week at the Castle Square, and he has chosen it so that its performances may fall on and around St. Patrick's Day. The play itself contains many bright examples of Irish wit and not a little Irish adventure. Tom Moore himself is made a kindly, a romantic and a sympathetic personage. He was a gallant as well as a troubadour, and in the course of the play he finds that life is not so easy for him as he had imagined in his youth. The first act takes place in an Irish village, where Tom is in love with the pretty schoolmistress. A year later we see him in a garret in London, the third act finds him in favor with the Prince of Wales, and at the end he is made poet laureate, and everything is serene.

Keith's Theatre—The coming of Mrs. Eva Fay to Keith's next week will be one of the most important events of the season. Mrs. Fay's name is well known through America and the English speaking world as the greatest exponent of the physical art now extant. Thousands of alleged exposures have been printed about her, but her wonderful powers continue unabated. During her engagement at Keith's she will answer all questions that may be asked her. Her ability to tell what has occurred never fails to arouse the greatest interest, while her predictions as to the future have been almost supernatural. She will be a feature of another remarkable bill, which have been making Keith's the centre of attraction in Boston this winter. It will include Jack Wilcox, that remarkable extemporaneous comedian, who will probably have something to say about Mrs. Fay; Stuart, the "Kissed Fatt," who comes with a score or more of beautiful French gowns; Griff, the English clown juggler; Hassan Ben Ali's Arabs; Mignonne Koldin, the singer and dancer, and Galetti's baboons, in an amusing comedy called "In a Barber Shop."

Boston Theatre—Beginning Monday evening, March 14, "The Queen of the Moulin Rouge" comes to the Boston Theatre with all the spectacular splendor and great company of comedians, show girls, chorus people and ballets that has made this place such a sensation in the Empire City.

The story has to do with the night life of Paris. The young King of Ocreania is in Paris finishing off his education previous to his assuming the more serious occupation of ruling a province. The young prince is followed by his bride-elect, the Princess Marotz, but he is saturated with the gayeties of Paris and the poor princess is too tame for him. So, seeing that he is in love with gay femmes of the Latin quarter, she assumes the role of an absent queen of that section, and as Queen of the Moulin Rouge wins back the prince by her abandon and high spirits. There will be regular matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

American Music Hall—For next week another aggregation of topline features will be seen. Thousands of Bostonians are already familiar with the sensational Parisian sketch, "Ma Gosse," which last week fairly took the town by storm. It was not the original intention of the management to hold this sketch, but there was such an eager demand on the part of the public to see it again that another course was open. Another welcome feature will be Henry Lee, one of America's most popular actors, presenting his famous impersonations of great men past and present. Still another topline feature will be Willa Holt, Walsfield, the charming entertainer of New York's "Four Hundred," in a play that is bright, witty and remarkably well rendered. Post and Russell are artists who will be remembered as members of several big Shubert musical comedies. They will present an act full of mirth and melody. The Royal Polo Players made a most favorable impression here this week, so much so that a second week was decided on for them.

AN APPEAL

CHILDREN'S GARDENS IN THE GARDEN CITY.

The Newton Social Science Club is planning through its forestry committee for the establishment of home and school gardens in Newton and Nonantum the coming season. A piece of land prepared for use has been offered by a generous friend. At least $200 will probably be required for carrying on the work so as to produce satisfactory results the largest expense being the services of a trained and efficient director. The school department cannot contribute since the strictest economy is required in the regular work to keep within the appropriations although assistance from the schools may be rendered in other ways. The Social Science Club has pledged $50 and would gladly give more but cannot do so without curtailing other lines of work.

The forestry committee therefore earnestly solicits further contributions large or small from any persons interested in promoting this work. Subscriptions unless otherwise requested will be published in the Graphic. A prompt response is desired as it is necessary to make up the amount as soon as possible. Address communications to the chairman.

In next week's issue of the Graphic will be published an article giving information upon methods and results in children's gardening.

The forestry committee of the Social Science Club: Mrs. Curle N. Smith, Miss Fannie M. Adams, Mrs. W. G. Brackett, Mrs. William R. Doney, Mrs. Joseph L. Colby, Mrs. Francis B. Hornbrook, Mrs. Frank A. Day.

D. A. R. MEETS

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton, met at the Newton Club Monday, March 14.

After the hostesses, Mrs. Francis Newhall, Mrs. H. H. Haskell, Mrs. George H. Ellis, Mrs. W. S. Kilburn, Miss Elizabeth Porter, had welcomed the guests, Miss Ruth Crandall sang two songs very charmingly, accompanied by Miss Van Wageningen.

The regent, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend, presided over a short business meeting when Mrs. C. D. McCreavey, Mrs. E. W. Hackett were nominated as delegates to the state conference to be held May 24 in Lorimer Hall, Tremont Temple.

A very interesting talk was given by Mrs. Irving O. Palmer on her life at Beaufort, among the sea islands of South Carolina. Mrs. Palmer interspersed her talk with negro melodies, accompanying herself on the violin.

A social hour followed while the guests enjoyed the dainty refreshments.

HOMELAND

Stanley Hall in the Hunnewell Club never held larger or more representative audiences than those of Wednesday and Thursday evenings when members of the club presented Charles Thomas' three-act farcical comedy, "The Paper Chase." It is similar to the daily plays which were so popular a few years ago and was full of exciting, complicating situations which centre around a certain lost paper, giving a receipt for a large sum of money. The play was well received and enjoyed. A humorous quartet by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wright, Miss Kane and Mr. Lamphar was a great hit. A solo by Mr. George O. Shepherd was one of the best things of the evening. One very happy number was a solo by Mrs. Ruggles, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Margaret, upon the cello, and her son, Teddy, aged seven, upon the violin. Miss Frances Dillingham recited original monologues to the great delight of the audience. Mr. Paul Spaulding accompanied the chorus with cornet and Miss Margaret Ruggles with the cello. Mr. Richard Wheeler played the traps.

POLYMNIA WHIST.

Once again the Polymania has justified its reputation for enjoyable hospitality. The subscription whist that this very much alive little club gave on Monday, March 14, at Mrs. H. F. Ross' delightful home, is notable as one of the pleasantest affairs of the season. Eleven tables were in play. Some charming gowns were worn, the arrangement of the rooms was most attractive—the dining room being a frequent centre of interest—and the scene throughout was one of animation and good taste.

The decorations of the dining room were carried out in the green and white, appropriate to this week's festivities; lettuce sandwiches, candy shampoos on the white frosting of the cakes, green and white candies, bunches of shamrocks on the dainty little baskets of salted nuts, and a flourishing centre piece of real live shamrock. Prizes were taken by Mrs. William C. Richardson, Mrs. G. Bartlett Willard, Mrs. M. E. Rogers, Mrs. A. C. Dunmore, Miss Jordan and Mrs. Anderson. Waltham, Brookline, Auburndale and West Newton were represented as well as Newtonville.

CONCERT

The old folks' concert at Centenary Church, Auburndale, on Wednesday evening, was in every way successful. A large audience was kept in perpetual good humor by a very strong chorus with a well selected program. Mrs. May Sleeper Ruggles directed and Mrs. Hall was the accompanist. The chorus singing showed careful training. The solos by Mrs. F. M. Harrison, Miss Gertrude Bourne, Miss Marion Dillingham and Miss Olive Bourne were well received and enjoyed. A humorous quartet by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wright, Miss Kane and Mr. Lamphar was a great hit. A solo by Mr. George O. Shepherd was one of the best things of the evening. One very happy number was a solo by Mrs. Ruggles, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Margaret, upon the cello, and her son, Teddy, aged seven, upon the violin. Miss Frances Dillingham recited original monologues to the great delight of the audience. Mr. Paul Spaulding accompanied the chorus with cornet and Miss Margaret Ruggles with the cello. Mr. Richard Wheeler played the traps.

—H. B. Lane's millinery parlor is showing some of the latest designs in imported French models. One of the hats is a large sailor, trimmed with willow plumes and black velvet. Another blue and green imported straw, crown of bachelor buttons, together with an endless variety of newest styles, making the stock one of the finest to select from in this vicinity.

MRS. CLAPP DEAD.

Mrs. Clara C. Clapp, wife of Charles C. Clapp, passed away at her home on Chesley avenue Saturday after a long period of failing health. She was a native of Sandwich and had been a resident of Newton for about 20 years. She is survived by her husband, one son and one daughter. Funeral services were held from the home Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 and were conducted by Rev. Albert Hammett, pastor of the Universalist Church, where deceased was a member. The large attendance of relatives and friends and the profusion of beautiful floral tributes testified to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held. The Burial was held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 and was conducted by Rev. Albert Hammett, pastor of the Universalist Church, where deceased was a member. The large attendance of relatives and friends and the profusion of beautiful floral tributes testified to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held. The Burial was held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 and was conducted by Rev. Albert Hammett, pastor of the Universalist Church, where deceased was a member.

POLICE NOTES.

Vincent Marrino, a Nonantum storekeeper, was fined $15 by Judge Kennedy last Friday morning for selling cigarettes to a minor. Patrolman William Condrin testified that the defendant had sold tobacco to Leo Marchant, a young boy. Marrino pleaded guilty and paid the fine. He testified that he was not aware of the existence of such a law.

EXPRESS

The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company inaugurates an express passenger trolley service next Monday between South Framingham and the Park street subway in Boston, on a running time of one hour and 30 minutes. There will be three round trips daily, morning, noon and afternoon, and the car will be of special design, painted steel gray and marked "Suburban Limited." It will be luxuriously furnished, with smoking compartment and newspapers. Stops will be made in this city, at Newton Lower Falls, Commonwealth avenue and Washington street, and on Commonwealth avenue at the Bree Burn Country Club, Chestnut street, Walnut street, Centre street, Grant avenue and at Lake street. The company will experiment with this unique service for 30 days and will make it permanent if the patronage is sufficient.

PRIDE AND PREJUDICE.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Women's Alliance will be given at the parish house of the Unitarian Church in West Newton on the Wednesday following Easter, March 30, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. John A. Bellows of Boston will give readings from Pride and Prejudice, illustrated by tableaux in which the older members of the parish will be assisted by the young people.

Mrs. Bellows has literary appreciation and a fine voice and will present to her audience the "Bennett Family" and their associates with all the naive charm of their day and generation.

Lovers of Jane Austen will delight in the familiar characters and the unconverted will find irresistible charm in the presentation.

There is every promise of an evening of unusual interest and a movement of the mind under the direction of Miss Emma Newhall will be an attraction. Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Sterling street, West Newton, or from members of the Alliance.

D. R.

The Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., announce a patriotic entertainment to be given at the Hunnewell Club, Thursday evening, April 14. The program will include musical and patriotic exercises and Mr. Prescott Warren's play, "The Day that Lincoln Died," will be presented by Mr. Warren and other friends of the chapter. The money made at this entertainment will be added to the fund already accumulating for the purpose of erecting a suitable memorial to the Newton men who gave their lives to their country during the Revolutionary War.

Tickets, at 50 cents each, may be procured of Miss Whiting, 11 Washington street, or at Hubbard's drug store, Newton.

FRANK G. HARKINS DEAD.

Mr. Frank G. Harkins died early Monday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Francis M. O'Donnell of Washington street, Newton. He had been sick for more than a year and a half. In August, 1908, he met with an accident while alighting from a street car at the corner of Dover and Washington streets, in which he fractured his shoulder blade and from which he never recovered.

Mr. Harkins was born in Newton in 1873, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Harkins. He moved to South Boston 15 years ago and three years later went into business for himself in that district, retiring about two weeks ago on account of ill health.

He is survived by three brothers and two sisters, Rev. John J. Harkins of St. Augustine's Church, Dr. Daniel F. Harkins of Dorchester, Dr. C. P. Harkins of Jamaica Plain, Mrs. F. M. O'Donnell, wife of Dr. O'Donnell of Newton, and Mrs. F. A. Callahan, wife of Dr. Callahan of Roxbury. The funeral was held yesterday morning at St. Augustine's Church, South Boston.

BRILLIANT WEDDING

NEWTON SOCIETY PRESENT AT BOUMPHREY-DENNISON NUPTIALS

Many Newton friends attended the wedding of Miss Olivia Belle Dennison, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dennison, former residents of Newtonville, to Mr. John Taylor Bumphrey of Rock Lodge, Monkstown, Ireland, which took place on Wednesday evening at the Dennison residence, 170 Beacon street, Boston. The house was attractively decorated throughout with laurel, Southern smilax and flowers, the library, where the wedding took place, under a bower of smilax, being banked with mounds of Killarney roses, in honor of the home of the groom, a beautiful basket of roses being a conspicuous ornament of the room. The music room was banked with day-break pinks and bride's roses were used in the dining room. An orchestra in the conservatory played the wedding march, while the bridal party passed thru the rooms to the library and rendered the beautiful Spring Song by Mendelssohn during the ceremony. Irish melodies were also played during the reception.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore white meteor satin, the bodice draped with rose point lace, the gift of her mother, and she carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies and maiden hair fern. She was preceded by two little flower girls, first cousins to both the bride and groom, Nancy and Peggy French of West Newton, wearing white net over pink and carrying baskets of pink rosebuds and maiden hair fern, and her sister, Mrs. Frank L. Nagle, Jr., of South Framingham, as matron of honor, in white satin with Brussels point lace and carrying a spray of pink buds and maiden hair fern. The groom was accompanied by Mr. James Payne of Monkstown, Ireland, as best man and the ceremony was performed by Rev. William H. Lyon, D. D., of Brookline, an uncle of the bride.

A largely attended reception followed until 10 o'clock, fully 500 guests being present by these ushers: Messrs. Frank L. Nagle, Jr., and Edward D. Bennett of South Framingham, William Dennison Lyon and Malcolm Dizer of Brookline, John Taylor French of West Newton, Gordon McLean of Boston, Luther Breck of Newton and Arthur Nagle of Newtonville. Mr. and Mrs. Bumphrey were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Dennison and Mrs. H. C. French of West Newton, an aunt of the groom and an aunt by marriage of the bride. Mrs. Dennison wore a gown of princess lace with pearls and Mrs. French was in white brocade satin with pearls.

After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Bumphrey will sail from New York on March 30 on the Lusitania for their home in Ireland, where the groom is studying law. They will be at home after July 10 at Glenville, Monkstown, Ireland.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Miss Jessie Craig Adam is a young organist for whom great things are predicted by all who hear her play. She has studied under several of the well-known organists of New York, but chiefly under Mr. Gaston M. Dothier. She has been organist in several New York churches and is at present organist of Edgemoor Church, Spuyten Duyvil, New York city.

Miss Adam has given many highly successful recitals in Yonkers and other towns in the vicinity as well as in the churches where she has been organist.

In February she gave a recital in Convention Hall at Buffalo, being the second woman organist to play a recital there.

She is to give a recital at Eliot Church Thursday evening, March 24 at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

LETTER CARRIERS ENTERTAIN.

Carriers in the Newton postal district held a social gathering in A. O.

U. W. Hall, West Newton, Wednesday night and as their guests there were present the Watertown carriers, that town having recently been added to the Boston postal district.

The men thoroughly enjoyed a program of songs, recitations, instrumental numbers and talks on subjects with which they were familiar, several of the veteran carriers telling interesting reminiscences of the early days of mail delivery. Mr. William J. Main was in charge and welcomed the guests. One of the speakers was Mr. James Dunn, one of the first carriers in Newton, who is 73 years old and a member of the National Letter Carriers' Association, as well as a past president of the Massachusetts State Letter Carriers' Association.

The Stuart Penny.
A pamphlet published in 1877, entitled "The Worth of a Penny; or, A Caution to Keep Money, With the Causes of the Scarcity and Misery of the Want Thereof in These Hard and Meriless Times," contains a list of articles obtainable for a penny in the days of Charles II. These include "a dish of coffee to quicken your stomach and refresh your spirits," "a fair cucumber" and "portions of such commodities as nuts, vinegar, grapes, cake, onions and oatmeal." The catalogue of pennyworths obtainable at an apothecary's is a lengthy one and includes "lettuce to make you sleep, mithridate to make you sweat and unseed, which may save your life in a fainting or swoon."

This in the way of recreation "for a penny you may see any monster, jack-anapes or those roaring boys, the lions; you may hear a most eloquent oration upon our English kings and queens if you listen to him who keeps monuments at Westminster; you may have all the news in England and other countries of murders, floods, witches, fires, tempests and what not in the weekly newspapers."—London Scraps.

The Mahogany Tree.
There is no such thing as a forest of mahogany. The mahogany tree lives by and for itself alone. It stands solitary of its species surrounded by the smaller trees and dense undergrowth of the tropical forest, rearing its head above its neighbors. Two trees to the acre is a liberal estimate for mahogany "pinks." More frequently perhaps only one tree will be found over a larger stretch of territory. True mahogany is the only species of the Swietenia mahogany, the name Swietenia having been given to it in honor of the celebrated Baron von Swieten, physician to Maria Theresa. It is distinctly a native of tropical America and frequently towers to a height of 100 feet, the trunk being often twelve feet in diameter. It is of exceedingly slow growth, and the time of its arriving at maturity is probably not less than 200 years. Occasionally small specimens have been found in southern Florida.

British Julius Caesars.
Julius Caesar, who on one of the closing days of August in 55 B. C. landed on the Kentish coast, has had many British namesakes, including a great cricketer, but the best known is Julius Caesar, master of the rolls under James I., about whom Lord Clarendon in the first volume of his history tells the amusing story, "Remember Caesar." The unpopular Earl of Portland sat up all night in a barricaded house with his friends and retainers armed to the teeth because he found in his pocket a slip of paper bidding him "Remember Caesar," which really had reference not to the assassination of the Roman statesman, but to some prearranged promise to a son of Sir Julius Caesar. The tomb of Sir Julius Caesar, with a quaint epitaph in legal phraseology, is among the many curious monuments of St. Helen's, Bishopsgate.—London Family Herald.

Parent and Prodigal.
In a Hongkong paper a short time ago there appeared a paragraph reciting that a wealthy young Chinese whose mother controlled a large business in Canton had been spending the money of the firm too lavishly, the attraction of motorcars and other vehicles of extravagance being too powerful for him. After various endeavors to control him the mother at length prepared chains and fetters and had him locked up. He, however, escaped, and the irate mother announced her intention to exercise her maternal rights on his return by cutting the tendons of his ankles and thus crippling him. The account proceeded to say that this treatment is often resorted to by irate parents with prodigal sons.—From "China," by Mortimer Menpes and Sir Henry A. Blake.

Turtles of the Amazon.
The fresh water turtle of the Amazon grows to a great size, especially on the upper river, where full grown ones three feet in length, two in width and weighing 200 pounds are often seen. Every house has its little pond or corral to hold a stock of these animals through the season of dearth, the wet months. Those who have Indians in their employ send them out for a month when the waters are low to select a stock; others purchase their supply.

Knew of One.
"Suggestion? H'm! Did you ever hear of a real cure effected by 'suggestion'?"
"I personally knew of one. I once suggested to a young fellow that if he didn't want to have a big dog chasing him off the premises he'd better quit coming to my house, and it cured him of the habit."—Chicago Tribune.

Something Left.
Brown (at the club)—Yes, by Jove, there's very little you can teach me. I've been everywhere, done everything, seen everything. The Scotch Member—Young man, did you ever have D. T.'s? Brown—D. T.'s! Great Scott, no! The Scotch Member—Then you've seen nowt.—Sketch.

Sarcasm.
"I can recommend this horse, sir," said a dealer, "as a strong, sound animal."
"It must be," agreed the customer, "to have attained its present age!"

A Cinch.
Dubbins—Do you know where I can find a lot facing south? Stubbins—Why not try around the north pole? That's a very likely place.—Judge.

On Sunday afternoon, March 20, Rev. H. Grant Person will be the speaker at the 3:15 meeting. This is the last meeting of the year.

On March 22, during the afternoon and evening, will be held a religious work conference at the association building. Representatives of all the churches of Newton have been invited. The program is as follows:

10:30 A. M.—Conference of employed officers of the association.

3:30 P. M.—Conference of older boys and leaders of religious work among boys, teachers of boys' classes in Sunday schools and the association.

4:30 P. M.—Conference of leaders in religious work for men, including ministers, teachers of men's classes, leaders of religious work for men in the church and association and any others interested.

6 P. M.—Social hour. There will be an exhibition of plans and methods.

6:30 P. M.—Supper. Five-minute reports from the afternoon conferences. Eight-minute talks by Secretaries Gibson and Whitmore. Address: "Co-operation, or Some Phase of a Layman's Responsibility for Work among his Associates." Speaker, Lewis A. Crossett, state chairman.

On March 26 the Women's Auxiliary will hold the annual Easter food and candy sale at the association.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

For all the boys of the department there will be outings and good times in the great out-of-doors from now on. Watch the bulletin board in the game room if you wish to be informed of the dates of the outings. The April vacation will hold good times in the way of trips and hikes and field sports for the younger boys.

A splendid camera club meeting was held Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. The meeting was honored with the presence of Mr. Collins, representative of the Eastman Kodak Company. Mr. Collins gave us a splendid talk on the fundamental principles of photography and developing. His ideas were those of a man who has made a life study of this branch of science and the knowledge imparted to the boys was very commendable.

An honor roll system has been established in the boys' department, whereby boys may secure points for things done. Every boy ought to be a member of the honor roll. Upon securing 50 points a white felt triangle will be given, and 100 points will reward the boys with a white "N" to place inside the triangle.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

The basketball season closed last Wednesday night. The association team was very much crippled, but arranged to play the High School at the closing game which proved to be very interesting.

The indoor athletic season will close Saturday night at the Tech gymnasium, Boston, with the holding of the Interstate Y. M. C. A. athletic meet. Newton will be well represented, having two relay teams and eight individual entries. The first relay team which will be composed of C. V. Moore, J. Leonard, J. Hines and J. Cody, the undefeated relay team of the season, will compete against the Providence Y. M. C. A. team. The second team, which will be composed of R. McNamara, A. The first contest for the second Waltham trophy, a beautiful sterling silver cup presented by Mr. A. H. Waltham, will take place Saturday, March 26. This contest will be one of the most interesting ever held, as indications point to a large entry. Five beautiful cups have been secured by the association and will be presented to the first five in the all-round contest. Watch this column for further notices of the great gymnastic carnival which will be held March 30 and 31.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

The most important event at the State House this week, from a local point of view, was the substitution Monday by the House of a bill to turn all corporate taxes over to the municipalities where the business is located, instead of one half such amount, the present law. This bill was substituted for an adverse report of the Taxation Committee by a vote of 128 yeas to 95 nays. It is needless to say that all of Newton's representatives were opposed to the bill, which is roughly estimated to affect the income of this city over $50,000. There is said to be an excellent chance of defeating the bill in the Senate, which proved the graveyard on a similar measure last year, but it must be confessed that the proposition is steadily growing more difficult to defeat and students of the financial problems of the state ought to plan to turn all this tax into the state treasury, thereby reducing the state tax, to the benefit of the whole state and avoiding the selfish interests which now pull both ways on this valuable receipt.

The Committee on Cities has reported the bill allowing the city to incur $250,000 additional sewer debt outside the city debt limit, making the total sewer loan $1,750,000. This committee has not yet reported on the annexation matter which was heard last week. While it is said that the committee considers the arguments for annexation to be the weakest case presented this year, it is rumored that powerful influences are at work to induce the committee to favor the plan. Our representatives are keeping in close touch with the situation and ought to secure an adverse report.

The Committee on Education has reported adversely on two bills to reimburse the city for one half of expense incurred for independent industrial schools, the committee believing that a distinction should be made between money raised by taxation for this purpose and money donated by private citizens. A bill assessing a tax of $658,598.87 for expenses of Middlesex county as compared with a tax of $672,261.19 for 1909, has been reported and is now on its passage. Every little bit helps, although I am not sure but what the cost of enlarging the probate court house ($30,000) should be added to the cost of 1910. Incidentally it might be noted that Middlesex county has a valuation of $682,078,925, and is only exceeded by the county of Suffolk. The adverse report of the committee on Constitutional Amendments on the prohibitory amendment was accepted Wednesday by a large majority. Representative Ellis voting to accept the report and Representative White voting in favor of the amendment.

Considerable interest has been aroused this week on the various tunnel propositions by the action of the Boston Elevated Railway Company in consenting to the Riverbank subway, so called, which will enable the Newton cars to avoid the crowded condition of Boylston street, the tunnel running under the Common and in the rear of Beacon street, coming to the surface at the Charlesgate. It is hoped that work will be commenced on this tunnel in the near future and the Transit Commission is busy preparing plans. The proposition of the New Haven railroad to construct a railroad tunnel between the North and South stations is approved on all sides and it ought not to take long to settle the details and get to work on this most important construction. There is altogether too much irresponsible talk about the iniquitous action of public service corporations. Any demagogue can get an audience on such a popular topic, and it is a sad reflection on the mental ability of the average citizen that he believes considerably more than half of what is handed to him by such persons. A moment's reflection ought to show that work of this character, involving millions, can only be accomplished by a combination of capital, and that that capital must be attracted by the certainty of security and a reasonable return on the investment.

The girls' basketball team defeated the Cambridge Latin team last Saturday by the score of 24 to 3. The Newton High girls played a fast game and distinguished themselves by their good team work. The Newton lineup was as follows: Miss Katherine Tewksbury, Miss Mary Paine, Miss Emily Clapp, goals; Miss Elizabeth Ganss, Miss Evelyn Stewart, Miss Marguerite Granger, guards; Miss Alice West, Miss Marion Whitely, Miss Esther Wing, centres.

After the game the Cambridge team was entertained at lunch. At a senior class meeting held Wednesday morning in the assembly hall Paul H. Smart was elected class orator and Miss Dorothy Emmons chosen class historian. The basketball squad has been out for two weeks but owing to the battery and a few of last year's men have practiced yet. They are Brooks, Osborne, West and Wilson, catchers; Carl, Woods and McCourt, pitchers; Barry, second base; Sanderson, third; Gallagher, shortstop, and Frupp, field.

In the Newton Y. M. C. A. gym Wednesday night the association first team defeated the Newton High School basketball team by a score of 26 to 22. The game was close throughout and the school players showed up well against their heavier opponents. Jacobs and Cady were the individual stars and each showed a good eye for the basket.

For wedding and anniversary gifts, beautiful electric and gas table lamps, ladies' desk lamps, candle lamps and shades, and iron, fire sets and screens, the reader will find the largest display in the country at McKenney & Waterbury Company, 181 Franklin street, corner Congress.

It is too bad that Mayor Hatfield's first campaign as chairman of the Republican state committee is in a contest so mixed up with personal issues as that for member of Congress from the 14th district. Some one has aptly characterized both candidates as "renegades" and while those in political authority state that there is only one side, private advices from some of the rank and file indicate that the result will be unusually close.

The passage of the corporation tax bill by the House, whereby this city will, if finally enacted, lose fully $50,000 of its present income, is a great disappointment to our representatives and city officials. While it is possible to defeat this measure in the Senate, the hope is probably farther to the thought, and Newton might as well begin to face the possibility of this serious attack on our resources.

HUNNEWELL CLUB.

One of the interesting incidents of the dramatic performances this week was the presentation on Thursday evening of a beautiful wreath of flowers to Mr. F. A. Wilcox by members of the cast. As Mr. Wilcox turned to retire from the stage after announcing that informal dancing would follow the play, he was greatly surprised to find the curtain raised and Miss Gansse ready to present him with the flowers on behalf of the cast.

The ladies' bowling tournament has ended with the team composed of Mrs. Somerby, Miss Bradley, Miss Kimball and Mrs. Robinson winning first place. Mrs. A. H. Wadsworth won the three-string total and Mrs. J. E. Mullen the high single. A third tournament will be started by the ladies next week.

Mrs. E. P. Tuttle won the ladies' bowling prize on Tuesday evening.
The February roll-off for eight men took place Saturday evening. Mr. H.
L. Learned winning first and Mr. O.
W. Holmes second place.

In the cowboy pool tournament,
Class B was finished. Mr. S. W.
Bridges defeating Mr. J. W. Howard in the finals.

Gentlemen's bridge is on the program for next Tuesday night.

A club meeting will be held Saturday night, March 26, to name a nominating committee.

A very pretty ladies' matinee
bridge was held Tuesday afternoon with 30 tables in play, in charge of Mrs. Ralph C. Emery. The prize
winners were Miss Simpson, Mrs. E.
S. Wheeler and Mrs. A. G. Macomber.
The decorations were green and white and the cakes and leas were ornamented with little green shamrocks. Assisting Mrs. Emery were Mrs. J. B. Simpson, Mrs. G. L. Par-

NEWTON BOAT CLUB.

The Newton Boat Club's Boston pin
house tournament, which was the second of the season, came to a close last Friday night, when Team 5, captained by J. A. Wilson, took three points from Team 6, led by E. H.
Squires. First place in the tournament was won by Team 2, under the leadership of James P. Richardson, while the second place prizes were

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

The Club Editor would commend to the attention of all readers of this column the appeal for children's gardens published elsewhere. The work which is to be carried on under the direction of the Social Science Club
the coming year will be of practical value to the children of Newton and Nonantum in that it will keep them usefully employed. The success of similar undertakings in other places fully warrants its being done in Newton. The money should be soon forthcoming. If the readers will remember that many small contributions are in reality of more value than merely two or three large ones, the amount will soon be secured and there will be no burden on any one.

On Thursday, March 24, at 2 p. m., the household economics committee
of the State Federation will observe "Household Economics Day" at Chicopee Falls, through the courtesy of the Chicopee Falls Woman's Club.
"Household Economics and Education" will be the general subject for the session with talks upon the following phases: "What Home Economics Stands for in Life Efficiency," "Education of Children in Domestic Science," "Teaching of Domestic Science and Arts in the Grade Schools and in the High School," "How I Teach Home Economics to my Children," "How I Have Failed." At the close of the program at 4 o'clock
the hour will be enjoyed with the hostess club. Trains leave Boston at 8:30 and 9:15, returning leaves Springfield at 5:55 p. m.

The regular quarterly meeting of the executive board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at the New Church parlors, Newtonville, on Monday, March 21, at 10:15 a. m. After the usual business
Miss Ethel Hobart, secretary of the Massachusetts Association of Women
Workers, will address the meeting.

At the Technical High School on Saturday morning, March 19, Miss Howard will give the postponed lecture upon "Salads and Sandwiches."

Pietro Isola will be in charge of the meeting of the Waban Women's Club
on Monday afternoon.

On Tuesday morning, March 22, the Auburndale Review Club will meet with Mrs. F. F. Davidson of Hancock street. The club will continue the study of French literature with papers
upon "Dumas Pere," "Sandou," "Scribe," "Rostrand," "Lamartine" and "Merimee."

"The Educational Theatre for Children and Young People" will be the topic to be considered by the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning.

On Thursday morning, March 24, at 10:45, Mrs. May Alden Ward will give the closing lecture upon current events before the class of the Newtonville Woman's Guild.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club was entertained at their last meeting by Dr. Richard Cabot, who gave an interesting talk on "Boston in 1915." The sale, which was held at the close of the meeting, added over $25 to the "New Clubhouse fund." The next meeting of the club will be held on Friday, April 1, when Byron's "Manfred" with musical accompaniment by Sebastian will be given.

At the meeting of the Monday Club
of Newton Highlands on March 14
papers were given on "Sartor Resartus," "Events of the French Revolution" and a sketch of "Robespierre." The next meeting will be with Mrs.
A. E. Martell of 43 Carver road.

Rev. Frederick Allen of the Watch and Ward Society spoke before the Newton Mothers' Club on March 14.
He told particularly of the work of the Episcopal City Missions for mothers in Boston and of the Mothers' Rest at Revere. A social hour with refreshments followed the lecture.

The Newtonville Woman's Guild held a meeting on March 15 in the interests of the work being done at Nonantum. Two of the classes at Stearns-Neighborhood House gave a demonstration of their work. The girls of the housekeepers' class illustrated the serving of a tea, the table being set, then four girls representing the hostesses and three guests
sat at the table, while another acted as waitress and two cleared away afterwards. After this the younger girls of the folk dancing class went through some of their folk dances.
The girls acquitted themselves well and the members felt it would have been difficult to have done as well themselves.

Miss Ethel Hobart, secretary of the Massachusetts Association of Women Workers, spoke of the aims of working girls' club and particularly of the Crescent Social Club which has recently been started at Nonantum. She advocated a close co-operation between the older women's clubs of Newtonville and Newton and this one,
that they may be a guiding force for this new club. Mrs. Hobart was cordially and enthusiastically received and there is little doubt but the friendly interest desired will be willingly given.

At the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning a paper upon "Imaginative Literature a Part of the Child's Education" was given by Miss Grace M. Burt. The brief discussion of children's reading and the statement for some of the reasons of the value of imaginative literature were in reality but an introduction to a closer knowledge of the man, who has more than anyone else been the children's friend, Lewis Carroll, the author of the "Alice" books. Lewis Carroll, whose real name was Charles Lutwidge Dodgson, was a mathematical professor at Christ Church, Oxford, and has under his own name
published many mathematical works.
Some account of his life was given and a summing up of his characteristics included his wonderful love for children, his dislike of personal publicity, his generosity and his great conviction. A short discussion of his books was included and extracts from them read. These two books, "Fin-gerposts to Children's Reading," by Walter Taylor Field, and "Children's Books and Reading," by Montrose J.

Moses, were commented to the mothers of the club as containing helpful suggestions on this important subject.

CALEB STARK CHAPTER.

Caleb Stark Chapter, Junior Sons
and Daughters of the Revolution, met on last Saturday morning at the home in Newton of Mrs. Alexander M. Ferrie, honorary regent of Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R. Members of the Junior chapter and guests filled the large drawing room where the meeting was opened by the president, Ralph Moore. The ritual exercises were well performed by the members and the business session consisted mostly of arrangements of the coming play to be given by the society on April 2. An enjoyable program, arranged by the director, Miss Marton D. Tucker, was given. It consisted of songs by Gladys White, piano solos by Hedie, a reading by Miss Rutledge, and an original recitation, "Battle of Bunker Hill" by Clifford Green. A description of the evacuation of Boston, by Miss Tucker, closed
the program. Not the least entertaining part of the evening was the refreshments. Among the guests present were Miss Clara J. Coburn, former regent; Mrs. G. W. Priest, regent; Mrs. Charles L. Pearson, Mrs.
C. O. Tucker and other members of the Sarah Hull Chapter. The state director, Mrs. M. A. Proctor, was also one of the invited guests.

Boston Opera House—The seventh and last week of the first season of the Boston Opera Company at the Boston Opera House will open with a performance of "Rigoletto," with one of the strongest casts. Alice Nelson will take the part of Gilda and Constantino that of the Duke. At the request of several of the patrons of the Boston Opera House, the management has decided to transfer three of the subscription performances in Holy Week. There will be no change on Monday. The regular Wednesday performance will be given on Tuesday evening, presenting Rachmaninoff's Der Gelizige Ritter, with George Bakkenoff as the Baron. This will be followed by J. Pangleel, with Fely Dereyne, the French mezzo-soprano, as Nedda, and Constantino

as Canio.

The regular Saturday matinee will be given on Wednesday afternoon,
March 23, with a performance of La Boheme. Lydia Lapkowski will sing
the role of Mimì for the first time and Hermann Jadowker, the eminent Russian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera House, will be Rodolfo.

Tosca will be the opera to be presented on Wednesday evening at popular prices. The cast includes Emma Hoffmann and Paul Bourillon.
The last performance of the season
by the Boston Opera Company will be given Thursday evening. This will be the regular Friday evening subscription performance. Mehlstedele

If you depart while your host still wants you to stay
You're sure of a welcome when next you're that way.

There are too many people who are like my new teakettle. You can pile fire under it and polish it all you please, but it won't sing; all it will do is to grunt a little, and you take the lid off it will scald the hand. Isn't that a picture of grumpy, surly people who don't appreciate kindness? Give me the old iron kettle that can sing and the old jolly people who can sing, also.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic: The communication you have shown me from the Congressman of the 12th district certainly furnishes more extensive and reliable information as to the proposed measure for placing receptacles, or mail boxes, before or at each house than was given by the press, which, unfortunately for my brief, served as the basis of my letter to your valuable journal of recent date. Personally and politically I have a very excellent opinion of Mr. Woola, of his worth both as a congressman and a citizen, and in the same public manner in which his supposed action in committee on the postoffice and post roads was somewhat hastily referred to, I beg to tender him a sincere apology for my criticism. And that my information, gained from Washington dispatches to the Boston newspapers may be completely corrected for the benefit of others, let me quote from the letter sent you. He writes: "There are not, all told, more than 10,000,000 houses owned by city carriers—probably 9,000,000 would be the limit—so that if a dollar apiece were paid for boxes, as your correspondent suggested, it would require the outlay of $25 to $30,000,000, but as a matter of fact, the resident may furnish his own box. He may cut a hole in his door, or, in any other way, supply a safe place in which to deposit the mail. In addition to that metal boxes may be purchased at a cost of about 50 cents each, so that, in any case, the expense cannot be more than $4,000,000 or $5,000,000, and probably would not be much more than half that amount. It is estimated—in fact, tests in various places have shown this to be so—that carriers lose about 18 seconds at each place they leave mail. If that is correct, the carrier service could be divided up so as to prevent the loss of that time, or 15 seconds of it, it would mean an annual saving of something like $2,000,000, which would be a pretty good percentage on the cost of the investment to the individual. I dislike to trouble you with such a matter, but in Newton, of all places, I like to have my public acts properly stated." Swaviter in modo, forster in re.

(As a matter of fact the provision in the postoffice appropriation bill prohibiting the delivery of letters to houses not furnished with proper receptacles for the same, was struck out by the House of Representatives on a point of order.—Ed.)

PARIS COMING TO YOU.

Heretofore dressmakers were obliged to depend wholly on purchasing their advanced patterns while in Paris, now, the excitement, Paris has come to them. Since the Paris Pattern Supply Company came to America they can get their patterns every week as they desire. Dressmakers who use these advanced patterns say their patrons are delighted to find the style of their gowns holds good as long as the material lasts, hence the dressmaker is much more appreciated as remodeling is neither profitable to dressmaker or patron. See advertisement.

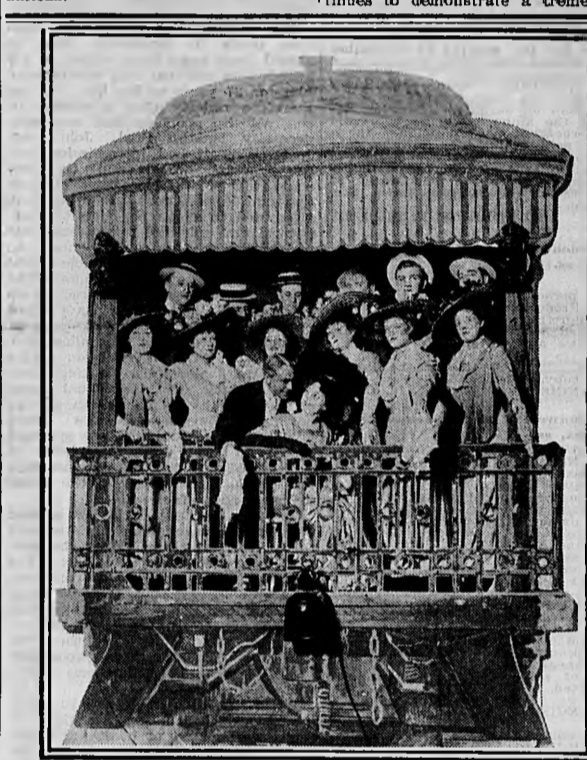

THEATRES

Colonial Theatre—Direct from a long, successful run at the Garrick Theatre, New York, "The Harvest Moon," the latest production from the pen of Augustus Thomas, will be presented for a limited engagement at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, Monday, March 21, by Charles Frohman.

Playgoers who have found delight in Mr. Thomas' previous great successes, "Arizona," "In Arizona," and "The Withering Hour" do not need to be reminded that a genuine treat awaits them.

"The Harvest Moon" teaches a great lesson, the power for good or evil of mental suggestion. Into this play Mr. Thomas has most cleverly wrought, together with a love story of absorbing interest, the elements of the modern principles of psychology, and with such vividness and strength that no listener can mistake the true arguments of right and wrong thinking and their effect. The play comes here with the original New York cast and scenic production. There will be matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Castle Square Theatre—An amusing farce is to be given at the Castle Square next week. "The Marriage of Kitty," which Mr. Craig has selected for one of his earliest spring offerings, has in both its original French and in the English version, caused endless laughter. It is an adaptation cleverly made by the English dramatist, Cosmo Gordon-Levon, and it has been starred in, both in England and in America, by the famous comedienne, Marie Tempest. It is filled with clean and humorous situations, the chief character being Katherine Silverton, a sprightly young woman, who after the death of her spendthrift father, goes to London to earn her living, and succeeds in doing so in a most unusual fashion. The scene of the first act is laid in a lawyer's office in London, then the characters go for the second act to a villa in Switzerland, and the climax comes with a disentanglement of all complications, and a general justification. The play is intensely amusing from beginning to end, and it is filled with bright lines and hilariously comic situations.

The Honeymoon Express, Scene V, Act I, "The Mignonette."

American Music Hall—It may be said absolutely without fear of contradiction that the bill which has been arranged for the American Music Hall this coming week will be the most remarkable vaudeville show that Boston has seen in many years. Every act is a headliner and every act has at one time or another been the reigning sensation in New York city. Perhaps the biggest feature will be a foreign novelty, "A Princess of Israel," a dance pantomime of which Adeline Boyer is the star. Another big offering is the "Star Bout" presented by Taylor Granville and a company of 50 people. This act is a clever little melodrama in which two heavy is a bantam pugilist who wins a prize fight against great odds. Winsor McKay the noted cartoonist and author of "Little Nemo," will present his sketches from life which are not only interesting but extremely humorous. Nellie McVay as a dancer is in a class by herself and her great beauty has caused her to be much sought by painters and photographers.

Kelth's Theatre—Mrs. Eva Fay's predictions at Kelth's this week have startled all Boston. She has been deluged with questions about political business and personal matters, and the answers she has given to some of them have been of the most startling character.

The bill for the week will have a number of new features, one of which will be Simon and Shields' big musical comedy entitled "High Life in Jail." The Pianophonds are also on the bill with a splendid company who play on six pianos at once. One of the most amusing features and one which will please the children immensely is the Three Ernests, a trio of the funniest clowns that has ever been on the stage. They have created a whirlwind of laughter where ever they have appeared. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Murphy and company will also appear in a new sketch called "Vance's Ghost," and others will be a Stanley and Morris in a gang and dancing act and Hearn and Rutter, in a new novelty.

Boston Opera House—The directors of the Boston Opera House have arranged for the most complete and remarkable innovation ever attempted in contracting for a supplementary spring season of grand opera in English at popular prices, and for this purpose have secured the Aborn English Grand Opera Company to open an indefinite series beginning Monday, April 11.

There will be two matinees each week, Wednesday at 25 and 50 cents, and Saturday at from 25 cents to $1. At evening performances the prices will be 25, 50, 75 cents and $1. Each opera will be given for an entire week of eight performances with two distinct casts appearing alternately.

Grand Opera House—Once in a very great while it happens that a man who writes a new musical comedy hits the nail on the head the very first time, and when the initial performance is over everyone around the theatre declares without any life, and or but that it is a sure-fire hit. You don't have to argue it out and explain why—you simply know it and feel it, and everybody else knows it and feels it.

Most shows of the character are produced and played for weeks with constant daily rehearsals before they really achieve any success, and some never get beyond the trial stage, but here is "Billy, the Boy Artist," coming to the Grand Opera House in Boston next week, beginning Monday, March 21, which Manager Magee was fortunate enough to secure as one of his biggest attractions of the season, making people sit up and look happy and satisfied the very first night it is presented.

Shubert Theatre—The public continues to demonstrate a tremendous

FEATURES OF SPRING REAL ESTATE EDITION.

Everyone interested in "Summer Homes" either at the seashore, mountains or country will want to read the specially written articles on this subject which will be published in addition to the popular regular features in the Boston Evening Transcript of Saturday, April 2. "Suburban Homes" is another engaging topic for that issue which will doubtless cause much favorable comment, while a careful study of "Boston Real Estate Values, etc.," another contribution, will surely have a real value to investors and those concerned in the welfare of the city. Real estate men and individuals who have properties to dispose of or rent should take advantage of this unusual opportunity and immediately secure space to properly place their holdings before so many interested persons as will be reached by the April 2 edition of the Transcript, which will have a much larger circulation than any previous issue.

LABELL SEMINARY.

The regular pupils' musical rehearsal will be given at Labell Seminary on Wednesday evening, March 23, at 7:45 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Officers of the Labell Seminary battalion have been announced for the coming drills as follows: Miss Ina M. McLean, cadet major; Miss Mildred Goodall, adjutant; captains, Company A, Miss Mary Gallagher; Company B, Miss Ina McDonald; Company C, Miss Mary Lombard; Company D, Miss Reva L. Borman.

NEW PASTOR

At a meeting of the parish of Channing Church held Tuesday evening in the parlors a unanimous call was extended to Rev. Harry Lutz of Billerica to become the pastor to fill the vacancy by the recent resignation of Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson. Rev. Mr. Lutz has accepted and will probably be installed the last of April, beginning the duties of the pastorate at once. Previous to his work at Billerica he was settled over the Unitarian Church at Belfast, Me. Rev. Mr. Lutz is a man of charming personality and high scholarly attainments and stands well in the denomination. Rev. Mr. Lutz has a wife and two young sons. He is 39 years of age.

LOGGERS.

Newton Lodge No. 110, Knights of Pythias, entertained Grand Officer Will C. Eddy on Tuesday evening. He spoke on the power of good that the order was in any community where it existed. There were large delegations from Brookline and Somerville present.

The Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge No. 177 will be instituted at Newtonville in Odd Fellows' Hall April 14. The charter list now has 105 names. The following officers have been elected to be installed April 14: N. G., Theres K. Fewkes; V. G., Helen Merriam; secretary, Charles F. Dow; F. S., Minnie L. Plaisted; treasurer, Belle Spurr; chairman committee on supper, Edna B. Dow; chairman committee on decorations, Charles F. Dow. A whist party will be held in Odd Fellows' Hall March 31 under the auspices of these officers.

BOY HURT

Weesley Nelson, an 11-year-old boy, ran in front of a rapidly moving automobile Tuesday afternoon and was so badly injured that he was taken to the Newton Hospital. The accident happened on the steep grade of Chestnut street, West Newton, opposite the Pierce School.

The automobile was owned and driven by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Huntington of 60 Wilton street, Woblaston. They were descending the hill when the boy, who lives at 47 River street, West Newton and who was going home from school, dodged from behind a wagon and ran before the machine. He was thrown several feet.

Edward Nowers of 1358 Washington street, West Newton, took the injured boy into his automobile and hurried him to the hospital. There the doctors found injuries to his arm and head. The boy will undoubtedly recover.

A SURPRISE.

A very pleasant surprise came to Pomroy Home this past week when a check was received from the Henry Siegel Company with the accompanying note: "Enclosed herewith we beg to hand you check for $15. We trust this may be of some assistance in the good work carried on by your organization." With such a sum of money much good can indeed be done in our work for destitute children. We would publicly express our gratitude to the generous firm and to our friends who took the time to cast a vote. May increasing prosperity come to you all.

CLARA M. HAYES, Supt. Pomroy Home, March 22, 1910.

GREAT REAL ESTATE ISSUE.

On April 2 the Boston Evening Transcript will print a generous amount of reading matter which will be of much interest to those who own or lease summer homes. There will also be specially written articles on the advantages of living in the suburbs both summer and winter. Anyone having real estate for sale, lease or exchange will do well to secure space in this issue for it will have a wide circulation among interested people.

CITY HALL.

Seven applicants for the position of secretary of the school committee were given a civil service examination Tuesday. Civil service examinations for foreign and janitors will be held on Monday, April 18, and for police and fire service on Wednesday, April 20.

NEW BRIDGE

At a meeting in Waltham this week Mr. W. B. de las Casas, chairman of the Metropolitan Park Commission, referred to the so-called Weston bridge, as follows:

"The bridge over the Charles river between Weston and Newton, near the headquarters of the Metropolitan Park police, is a striking example of a lack of enterprise on the part of two communities. This bridge is a misfit, it is built in two separate ways of architectural construction, and now that the automobile has come it is not wide enough. A new bridge must be built within a few years."

POSTPONED.

The dedication exercises of the new Technical High School, which were to be held this evening, have been postponed until some time next month, on account of Good Friday.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Next Sunday being Easter Sunday there will be no meeting at the Y. M. C. A.

The Women's Auxiliary of the association will hold an Easter sale on Saturday afternoon, March 26. Food of all kinds including cake, candy, jellies, etc., will be for sale.

A meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held at the association on Wednesday afternoon, March 30.

On March 22 was held the religious work conference for men and boys at the association. The program as outlined in last week's Graphic was carried out. About 30 boys gathered at 3:30 for a conference with Mr. H. W. Gibson, boys' work secretary of the state of Massachusetts. Some topics discussed were the clubs for boys in the churches and the Sunday schools, their attitude toward religious matters, whether clubs were organized for Bible study or a social purpose, and what they were doing to help in the life of the church. The average fellow in Newton was also discussed, what good or bad habits he had, also where he spent his time. The boys who met for this conference are boys who are trying to help the other fellow, and it is expected that some organization will grow out of this conference. At 4:30 there was a conference of leaders in religious work for men including ministers and teachers of men's classes. About 40 men gathered and listened to addresses by J. A. Whitmore, religious work secretary, and H. W. Gibson, boys' work secretary. There was not time for a complete discussion of the questions presented, but there was a thorough discussion of men's clubs in the churches, their methods of work, etc. At 6:30 84 men sat down to a supper served by the social committee of the Women's Auxiliary. Mr. Allan C. Emery spoke of the Smith meetings to be held in May and asked every man to pledge his support, which was gladly done by all present. The evening program consisted of a report of the afternoon conference by William Cady, short talks by Secretaries Gibson and Whitmore, and an address by Lewis A. Crosssett, state chairman of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Mr. Crosssett spoke of "The Layman's Responsibility for Work Among His Associates." Secretaries Gibson and Whitmore have been holding conferences during the month of March in various parts of our state, and said that the Newton conference in point of numbers and interest surpassed any they had yet held. At the close of the conference a committee consisting of Messrs. J. A. Gardner, chairman; S. T. Emery, Howard Whitmore, Frank Hayden and H. W. Bascom were appointed to conserve the results of this conference.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

An outing will be held for the whole boys' department on Saturday, March 26, 1910. Every boy welcome. Bring a friend with you, also your baseball, bat and glove. If you have pocket knives bring them too. Party leaves the Y. M. C. A. at 9:30 a. m. Be on time.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

The closing athletic feature will be held Saturday night. The first contest for the second Waltham trophy will be held, and this year promises to be the most exciting of any previous contests. The meet will start promptly at 7:30.

The crowning event of the season in the physical department will be held March 30 and 31, when all the classes will present their annual gymnastic carnival. This promises to be the most interesting exhibition ever held under the auspices of the association. The first night the special feature will be a picked gymnastic team representing several associations. The second night the special feature will be the demonstration of scientific boxing and wrestling, also weight lifting, by Frank H. Baker, former instructor of boxing at Cornell University, and now physical director at the Haverhill Y. M. C. A. The humorist features will also be conspicuous. The first night the "Dairy Males" and the "Reubens" will play a game of basketball, assisted by the biggest policeman that can be secured who will referee the game. The clown who made such fun for the boys and older people last year will also be present.

The Newton athletic team covered itself with glory last Saturday night at the Tech Gym, Boston, by repeating its performance of last year of winning the Interstate meet. Hines, the star dash man of the Newton team, won the scratch 35-yard dash against the fastest men in the association, defeating Porter of Lynn in the preliminary trials, semi-final and final heat. Leonard won third place in the 35-yard dash after winning his trial. Percy Morton won his trial in the 35-yard but lost in the semi-final. Ted Morton won the high jump. Jack Cody won the shotput. The Newton relay teams were a feature of the evening, the first team defeating the Providence Y. M. C. A. team by 86 yards. The second team defeated the Boston Y. M. C. A. first team by 40 yards, and the Consolidated defeating the Lowell team by 45 yards. The second team lost their medals on protest from Boston, who claimed a foul on one of the banks.

Last Tuesday there were six tables in play at the gentlemen's bridge, the winners being Dr. Edward Mellus and L. A. Hall and Dr. Gleason and A. D. W. Sampson.

Miss Tucker won the prize for ladies' bowling on Tuesday evening.

 —Miss Henrietta Blood has returned again from the Newton Hospital and is resting comfortably.
 —Mr. Harry C. Walker of Chestnut street arrived home the latter part of last week from a six weeks' business trip to California.
 —The regular weekly meeting of the Guild of the Good Shepherd was held on Tuesday with Mrs. William Saville, Windsor road.
 —Miss Jane Swift of Waban avenue entertained Miss Caroline Gurnsey over the week's end and on Saturday evening was hostess at a pleasant gathering in her honor.
 —The Union Church Society held Holy Week services on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the residences of Mr. Pillsbury and Mr. Carroll and the last will be held tonight at the home of Mr. Brock, the speaker being the Rev. D. Brewer Eddy of Newton Highlands.
 —The Waban Woman's Club listened to a charming and instructive lecture on the "Madonna in Art" by Mr. Pietro Isola of Beacon street on Monday afternoon. His interesting talk was illustrated by many beautiful reproductions and photographs of famous pictures. Mrs. S. Herbert Willey was the hostess.
 —An excellent vaudeville performance was given last Friday under the auspices of the Young People's League in Waban Hall. An audience of about 130 laughed and applauded the acts heartily and a goodly sum in addition to the ticket money was realized from the sale of candy. A merry farce entitled "Rubber Boots" was first presented with a capable cast consisting of Miss Grace and Miss Marion Miller, Miss Rachael Gilmore and Mr. Fred Webster. The latter as the tactful tramp was especially good and did some clever pantomime acting. Miss Grace Miller also distinguished herself in several difficult scenes. The Waban bass quartet, Messrs. Robinson, Davis, Fisher and Gould, appeared twice, the first time as a trio owing to the absence of one member. Their singing made a hit as usual, especially the humorous selections, and every number was encored. Miss Edith Greenwood, reader, also appeared twice and delighted the audience with four well chosen and well rendered numbers, displaying a wide range of subjects. She is a young elocutionist but with a good stage presence and pleasing personality and is already skilled in the art of using the voice, portraying both serious and light subjects with facility. The final act was a laughable double Dutch skit by Hanzard Schaefer, Messrs. Klocker and Childs, two students, arrived for instruction at Burryhill's Academy. Some clever conversation, recitations and topical verses were worked in, the former especially displaying unsuspected talent and keeping his hearers in a roar. Mr. Childs made his best hit with Bert Williams, after a quick change, giving an excellent imitation.

THEATRES

Hollis Street Theatre—Miss Billie Burke will begin a two weeks' engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre on Monday in "Mrs. Dot," a comedy by W. Somerset Maugham. In the Maugham comedy Miss Burke has the role of a young and pretty widow with an enormous fortune. She is in love with a handsome but impetuous young fellow who seems to reciprocate her affection, but who for some reason or other, is extraordinarily backward in his love making. "Mrs. Dot" is decidedly the brightest and wildest play that Mr. Maugham has yet sent to this side of the Atlantic. Its dialogue, as in all of his plays, is bright and witty without being unnaturally brilliant, the character drawing is excellent, and there are several extremely amusing and novel situations. The role of the widow suits Miss Burke to a nicety and as it keeps her on the stage almost constantly even her most devoted worshippers and admirers will be pleased.

Kelth's Theatre—When it was announced a week ago that Mrs. La Salle Corbell Pickett, widow of General George E. Pickett, who led the famous charge at Gettysburg, had been engaged by B. F. Kelth to appear in the houses on his circuit, the news spread from one end of the country to the other. No person living today has perhaps had a wider acquaintance with public men before and after the war, and few women are better known than Mrs. Pickett. For she has been a frequent contributor to the magazines, has written a number of books, including "Pickett and His Men," and during the past few years has been delivering a lecture on the battle of Gettysburg which has attracted widespread attention. In fact, it has been claimed the most graphic description of a battle ever delivered and on her recent tour she broke all records as a lecturer. Mrs. Pickett will make her vaudeville debut at Kelth's Theatre in Boston on Monday, March 28, and will describe the charge that made her husband famous. Other features of the bill will be Theodore Frieland, late of the Castle Square Stock Company, in a sketch; Charles Case, Williams and Van Aylstine, and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Crane.

Castle Square Theatre—"Raffles," which John Craig is to produce at the Castle Square Theatre next week, is a detective play of the most exciting sort. It is founded on the famous stories of the same name by E. W. Hornung, and it shows the famous amateur cracksmen at clever exploits that rival those of Sherlock Holmes. The scenes of the play are laid in England, two acts at the country house of Lord Amersteth, and two at the apartments of Raffles in London, and it is only at the very end that we are made aware of his ability to escape through the smallest loophole.

American Music Hall—Capacity audiences at every performance last week attracted to the theatre by the sensational dance of Miss Adelaide Boyer in the "Princess of Israel," indeed the management of the American Music Hall to hold over this remarkable feature act for a second week. While Miss Boyer is daring in the extreme, both as to costume and to suggestive movements, yet her dancing never fails to evoke the most favorable commendation. All star acts will make up the balance of the bill. "The Star Bout" is another of those features which last week made such a tremendous hit and this act will be held over also. Alex Carr and company will be seen in their always laughable sketch, "Tobittsky," or "The End of the World." Ed Kough, the noted actor and a capable company will present "A Vaudeville Surprise." McLaughlin and Chappelle will offer their laughing sketch, "Twenty Minutes Before Train Time." Another act on the bill will be Rene Davies, one of the most beautiful women on the stage.

MR. RAYMOND BURIED.
 Funeral services for Freeborn F. Raymond 2d, who died while travelling in Florence, Italy, were held Saturday afternoon in his home at 173 Otis street. There were many friends present, including a number of his associates in the legal profession. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the West Newton Unitarian church. The burial, which was private, was in the Newton Cemetery.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

All who have made a study of the benefits derived from the home and school gardens agree that these are not confined merely to the keeping of the children usefully employed and that there is a psychological effect similar to that derived from any manual training. A writer upon this subject in the Federation Bulletin last year says that certain traits which have been assigned as derived from the "little red schoolhouse" were in reality gained from the work on the farm. "The education in the schools of today, based on the intellectual results only, is greatly superior to that of the little red schoolhouse, but certain qualities of mind and heart were developed on the farm which are largely lacking in the children of the present, and which are essential to a complete and symmetrical education." Lack of initiative and a sense of responsibility are complained of in many directions. This lack has been traced to the fact that the city child has lost the training which the country child got in the work about the farm home.

"The school and home gardens," says this writer, "help to solve this problem. Work in them strengthens the children's powers of observation and gives practical training by eye and hand. It begets a sense of responsibility because of the care which they must give to tender, growing things. It develops honesty, since the child acquires through his own ownership a greater respect for the property rights of others. It fosters patriotism.

"For the city boy, then, it will beget in his heart a love for living, growing things—a love that in later years may be strong enough to lure him from the smoky, crowded city, to make a home for himself outside her gates, where his children may partake of a sweeter, purer environment."

It is with a realization of these facts that the Social Science Club is planning its work in this line for the coming season. The appeal published last week has not yet met with the response that was hoped for, but may it not be overlooked and the funds necessary soon be forthcoming.

On Wednesday, March 30, at 2 p. m., the conference of presidents of the Massachusetts State Federation will meet in the Unitarian Church at Arlington. Club presidents, secretaries and treasurers as well as state committees are invited to attend. "Club Methods" will be discussed. The Arlington Woman's Club will discuss hospitality after the meeting.

The postponed lecture by Miss Howard on the luncheon for six from materials costing $1.50 will be given at the Technical High School on Saturday morning of this week.

Dr. Fawcett will speak before the Social Science Club next Wednesday morning on "Practical Applications of the New Methods of Preventing Disease; with particular reference to Dietetics and Hygiene." Members may invite guests.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club will hold its monthly meeting on March 31. Miss Ada Phillips will give a humorous and dramatic recital.

On Friday, April 1, Byron's "Manfred" with musical accompaniment by Schumann will be given before the West Newton Women's Educational Club.

The Social Service committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs reported concerning the tuberculosis work at the regular board meeting on Monday morning. It was stated that the National Anti-Tuberculosis Society had sent a request over the country asking that April 24 be set apart by the churches as a day in which contributions be made toward the suppression of the "Great White Plague." Upon consideration it had been thought that this is a matter in which the city Board of Health might take action, so it was decided to refer it to that board. The committee is also urging the introduction of the Sanitary Bubbling Fountain, into the public schools.

At this same meeting it was decided to hold the annual meeting of the Newton Federation as usual with a luncheon and the entertainment to be furnished by some of the clubs, the nature of which will be announced later. The details were left in the hands of a committee.

The Polymnia, a musical club in Newtonville, has applied for membership in the Federation.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands at its meeting on March 21 considered the essays of Thomas Carlyle on "The Opera," "Robert Burns" and "Past and Present," as presented in brief resumes given by members. Pianola selections added to the pleasure of the afternoon and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Next week the club will meet with Mrs. E. P. Bosson of Hillside road.

One of the most enjoyable lectures on the calendar of the Waban Woman's Club is that given annually by Pietro Isola. At last Monday's meeting, under the general subject of "Art," Mr. Isola spoke on "The Iconography of the Madonna," displaying pictures of the mother and child as conceived by the earliest artists as well as by those of mediaval and modern days. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. S. Herbert Wiley.

"Children's Day" will be observed in Waban Hall on April 4, when the Rev. Jay T. Stocking will tell stories for their enjoyment.

ALDERMEN

The meeting of the aldermen Monday evening was routine in character, the "insurgent" aldermen on the Technical High School retaining wall contenting themselves with brief explanations that while they still believed that the expenditure of $8000 for this work was unwise, they recognized the fact that they were in the minority and would not block the work by acts of obstruction.

President Jones was in the chair and Aldermen Avery, Barker, Blakemore, Chadbourne, Cox, Doherty, Gray, Higgins, Leonard, Lyons, Moore, Sullivan, Towle, Underwood and Williamson were present.

No one appeared at hearings on petitions of the Telephone Company for pole locations on Parker street, for attachments on Summer street and on petition of the Edison Company for poles on Bristol road.

Forest Commissioner Bucknam spoke in favor of removal of certain trees on North street, Bennington street, Crafts street, Paul street, Mt. Ida street, Chestnut street, Waltham street, Watertown street, Washington street and Grove street, and there was no opposition. An order was subsequently adopted ordering the removal of these trees.

The street commissioner submitted a list of streets on which dust layers should be used, which was referred. Petitions of ex-Mayor Warren and others for concrete sidewalks under betterment act on Lincoln street, of Leslie Coleman and A. C. Smith for minors' licenses, of William J. Cozens for sewer in Glenmore terrace, of J. S. Wilson for sewer in Harrington street, of H. O. Stetson and others for sewer in Pine Ridge road, of Mary D. White for common victualer license on Dalby street, and of Annie M. Cole for laying out of Floral street were also referred.

Hearings on April 4 were ordered on petitions of the Edison Company for attachments on Groveland street and of the Telephone Company for relocations on Hammond street and for attachments on Erie avenue. Petitions of the Telephone Company for poles on Beacon street and for permit to remove one pole on Beacon street were granted.

Petitions of the Junior Guild, St. John's Church, for permission for Dorothy E. Wheaton to take part in theatrical exhibition on March 30 was granted. Invitations from the Y. M. C. A. to attend annual gymnastic carnival March 30-31, and of the Charlesbank Boat Club to attend lecture at Hannevell Club March 28 on the Charles River Basin were accepted.

Hearings on April 18 were ordered on petitions to keep gasoline from Josiah E. Bacon, Prospect street; Julius M. Woodworth, Walnut street; C. W. Leonard, Forest avenue, and R. W. Williamson, Highland street.

Petition of Anderson et al. for better lighting on Austin street was referred to the street commissioner. On reports of committees, the Edison Company was granted pole locations on Kapasia street, Farlow road, Gibbs street and attachments on Beacon street, John J. Bird a wagon license, John Purcell permit to move building from Alden court to James street, sewers ordered in Woodward street and Newtonville avenue, water mains ordered in Bridges avenue, Jackson road, Sylvan avenue and Bigelow road, sewer assessments and sewer charges levied on certain streets, soldiers' relief granted to Emma A. Hawkes, a hearing ordered May 2 on proposed board of survey and hearings ordered April 4 on taking lands for sewer in Floral street, Munroe street, Oak terrace and Hawthorne street. Leave to withdraw was also voted on petition of the Telephone Company for poles on Ruthven road, relocation of poles on Waverley avenue, poles on Dancklee street, to Nicholas Veducello and John J. Bird for permits to transport intoxicating liquors and Horace Scofield for a common victualer license for lunch cart, Pearl and Centre streets.

Aldermen Chadbourne was designated by the chair to draw jurors and drew these names for the civil court: Charles E. Kelsey, Montvale road; Charles N. Flitz, Homer street; H. M. Bunker, Grove street; John W. Fisher, Church street, and Otis W. Holmes, Copley street. The names of Isaac H. Snow, Washington street; Charles Copeland, Gray Cliff road; Frederik T. McGill, Erie avenue, and Frank R. Converse, Park street, were drawn for the criminal court. The name of Charles R. Loring was also drawn, but replaced in the box on the statement by Alderman Blakemore that Mr. Loring was in Egypt.

The appointments of Dr. C. A. Boutelle as inspector of animals, and of Benjamin F. Butler as assistant assessor, laid over from the previous meeting, were unanimously confirmed. The order authorizing $24,000 in serial bonds for Technical High School construction and equipment was taken from the table, and after remarks by Aldermen Towle and Blakemore that they would not oppose its passage, was adopted unanimously, after being amended by increasing the rate of interest from 3-12 to 4 per cent.

An order for $22,874 for city expenses to April 15 was also adopted and the board at 9 o'clock adjourned.

Mr. W. H. Partridge, the photographer, is holding an exhibition of paintings and foreign photographs at his studio, 90 Westland avenue, Boston, this week. The hours are from 1 to 5 daily.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Graphic:
 Sir—In reading the last number of the Public Health Reports, issued by the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, I found the following item which I venture to ask you to publish:

"Dr. C. T. Moffett, health officer of Bee county, Texas, reports that on Jan. 1, 1910, he was called to Normanna to see a patient who had small pox. There were nine other people living in the house, all of whom refused to be vaccinated, saying that they preferred smallpox to vaccination. A man and two women from another house had visited the patient before the case had been diagnosed smallpox. These three were vaccinated, but the vaccine did not take in two of them, the only successful take being in one of the women.

"This made 12 persons who had been exposed to the disease, only one of whom had been successfully vaccinated. The 11 who had not been successfully vaccinated all contracted smallpox, the woman whose vaccination had been successful being the only one to escape. The original and the secondary cases made 12 in all. Of the 12, five died."

In view of the fact that 76 cases of smallpox have been reported in Middlesex county between Jan. 1 and Feb. 28, 1910, it seems that the above facts in regard to the protection afforded by vaccination are worthy of careful consideration.

While all kinds of opinions are advanced for the victory of Mr. Foss in the 14th congressional district, and one man's judgment is about as good as another, private advices from newspaper men of that district lead me to believe that Mr. Foss was elected, not because the voters wanted him for a congressman, but because they disliked the republican candidate. Friends of ex-Governor Bates were to a man against Mr.
Buchanan and Mr. Bates is a popular statesman in the Cape district. This fact coupled with charges and rumors as to the methods used to carry the convention for Mr. Buchanan are said to be the underlying causes for the result. It is possible, of course, that the tariff and high cost of living, influenced some votes, but a republican candidate like Judge Harris
would have easily carried the district. The 14th district is anti-Buchanan, not Democratic.

The new admen are to be congratulated on their common sense decision, not to filibuster on the passage of a bond issue, covering in part the cost of work considered and ordered by last year's board, altho not yet completed. While they had the necessary votes to defeat the bond issue (as it required a two thirds vote) such action would not have rescinded the act of the previous board, and would have created a disagreeable situation for all concerned.
Their action in stating their opposition to the work in question and then joining with the remainder of the board in passing the order was both dignified and sensible.

The postponement of the dedication of the Technical High School on account of Good Friday is to be commended. It ought not to have been selected in the first place.

Good Friday.

ORGAN RECITAL.

At Eliot Church last evening the last of the series of organ recitals
for the season was given before a representative audience, by Miss Jessie Craig Adam, organist of Edgehill Church, Spuyten Duyvil, New York city. Miss Adam is a former pupil of Mr. Gaston M. Dethier and she has the delicate, artistic touch of the master teacher, which makes him so popular with an audience of lovers of high grade music. The most of her selections were the quiet kind,
soft and dreamy in composition, not thrilling or lacking in interest.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Four persons escaped serious injury Sunday morning when an automobile collided with a closed carriage
on Washington street, West Newton,
in front of the post office.

According to the police blotter the carriage was owned by Mr. William B. H. Dowse of Temple street. The occupants were said to be Mr. and Mrs. Dowse and the carriage was being driven by John Gill. The automobile was owned and driven by G. Howard Frost, of 854 Watertown street, West Newton. The occupants of the carriage were being driven to church and were on the left side of the road. Mr. Frost had swerved his machine so as to pass another that was standing by the curb, when he crashed into the carriage. The left forward wheel of the vehicle was splintered and the occupants were crossed from side to side, only the fact that the carriage was closed preventing them from being thrown to the ground. The driver of the automobile gave the steering-wheel a quick twist
in the opposite direction and locked wheels with the other machine.

AMONG WOMEN.

At the meeting of the Social Selection Club on Wednesday morning,
March 23, Mrs. Henry I. Harriman, one of the members, gave an interesting description of "The Educational Theatre for Children and Young People." This enterprise originated not in Boston, where one would naturally have expected it, but in New York city, under the auspices of the Educational Alliance. Previously they had had hit or miss entertainments for the children and young people of the East Side, but under the direction of Miss Alice Minnie Herts
a systematic study of good plays was made by these young people and fine performances given. Seats were sold for ten cents each and always there were many more turned away than could be accommodated. The leading parts were taken by girls and boys 18 and over, while younger children were employed where children's parts were required, but the children never took grown-up parts. Such plays as
"The Tempest," "As You Like It,"
"Incomer," "Forest King," "Snow White," "Prince and the Pauper,"
"Little Lord Fauntleroy" and "The Little Princess" were given in the course of the four or five years during which this experiment was carried on. Unfortunately Miss Herts' health gave out and the enterprise has had to be abandoned for the present.

Mrs. Harriman felt that there was great educational value to the movement as it was carried on. Different persons took the parts at different performances, so that playing there was quite another matter from the long engagements at the regular theatres. The training in English which these foreign children had, so that they were able to enunciate pure English, was certainly worth much,
and the unconscious moral and civic lessons were of untold value. The children who attended would become so absorbed in the performance that they would live it and spontaneously want to be like the characters
they were playing. Little Snow White not to eat the poisoned apple or other characters to avoid some threatening danger, so real did the whole thing become to them. The ability to see the consequences of actions as one can
in a play in distinction from real life,
she felt to be of great value as an object lesson to the children.

Various criticisms have been brought against this movement, but Mrs. Harriman was able to point out that they were for the most part groundless.
The discussion touched upon different phases of the subject, the quality of moving picture shows and their good and bad effects, the inadvisability of children's taking grown-ups'
parts and some of the work done by the settlements along dramatic lines.

The Cooking Class of the Newton Centre Woman's Club held an Easter
food sale at the home of Mrs. Ella Brown of Institution avenue on Thursday afternoon.

The regular meeting of the Newton Parliamentary Law and Debating Club was held Thursday at 23 Boyd street, when a very profitable hour was enjoyed.

"Amendments" in their various troublesome relations were discussed
under the able direction of our leader, Mrs. Sherman.

Plans were also gotten under way
for an "Outing," to which all members are looking forward with pleasant anticipation.

The next meeting of this club will be at the same address on the second Thursday in April.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

There is little to record this week
of particular interest to Newton in the doings of the General Court.
Neither the committee on cities,
which is considering the annexation
matter, nor the committee on education, which is holding the bill to reimburse Newton for expenses of its Independent Industrial school, have reported, altho it is well known that a large majority of the committee on cities is opposed to the annexation
bill and that a favorable report will probably come in on the school matter.

Representative Ellis is one of the five dissenters of eleven members of the labor committee, on the so-called
"eight hour bill," which in reality is not an eight hour bill at all. This is practically the same bill vetoed by Governor Dummer last year and the large number of dissenters on the measure may presage its defeat before it reaches the Governor. It is certain that it will be vetoed if it does pass the General Court, and will become another "issue" for the Democratic fall campaign.

The Governor has signed the bills to reduce the membership of the school committee of Newton, to amend the city charter relative to removal of officers, both having a referendum, and to authorize the welding of River street. The bill to increase the sewer loan is moving along and will probably reach the Governor next week.

The Walker bill to give the Governor and council supervisory powers
over expenditures has become law, being signed by the Governor last week and ought to simplify the state's methods of making appropriations. It will be remembered that this bill follows the method used in making up the city appropriations in Newton.

That the recent congressional election in the 14th district was not a party matter is shown by current comment among Republican members of the Legislature, not a few of them admitting that if they had lived in that district they would have voted against Buchanan. With testimony of this sort it is folly for the Democratic party to claim that the result was caused by dissatisfaction with the tariff or the high cost of living.

POLYMNIA MUSICAL.

For once the Polytnia was fortunate in exceptionally beautiful weather
for its musical, when last Wednesday evening Mrs. William Price opened her house for the third of the series of "guest nights" for the season of 1909-1910. The program was a pleasing one throughout—perhaps the best the Polytnia has ever presented—and the audience gave frequent evidence of appreciation and liking. It is always interesting to hear intelligent criticism of the work of the Polytnia, and to feel that its continued advance appeals to its hearers as well as to the workers themselves.

For that is what this little club is—a band of earnest workers who come together for the definite aim of self-improvement as well as enjoyment in their study of good music, under Madam Martinez's competent and inspiring direction. One of the enjoyable incidents of the program was a new song of Madame's, "The Wood Fire," sung by Mr. John W. Merrill.
One hearing is hardly enough to get any adequate idea of the delicate beauty of this song. As just a suggestion of recognition to the composer, a rose, selected for its perfection, was presented to Madame at the close of the song.

Mr. Gould's violin numbers showed him to be possessed of good command of his instrument, and met hearty approval. He plays with a broad, sure tone, and intelligent technique and feeling. Miss Coxeter we are always glad to hear, and it was a pleasure to welcome her once more among the assisting artists of this enjoyable evening. The difficult technique of the Klavertuokke is veiled under a fascinating grace and rhythm, but it is none the less a matter of hard and careful study to play it at that. The grace and rhythm are its noticeable characteristics. Miss Coxeter certainly achieved that end, bringing out both the delicacy and the dignity of the composition.

The surprise of the evening was the singing of Mrs. G. Bartlett Willard of Waltham. Those who were present at the first musical of the season will remember that Mrs. Willard had a brief solo in "The Angels," and that she then showed a light voice of pleasant quality. For the past two months Mrs. Willard has been working faithfully and her singing last night was a revelation of what faithful and intelligent work
can do under an artistic teacher.

Delicious ice cream and cake followed the concert and a social half hour ensued.

HINTS ON CHILDREN'S GARDENS.

By Mrs. Fred H. Tucker.

(Reprint from Federation Bulletin for April.)

In the spring the thought of the patriotic club woman lightly turns to children's gardens. For she feels that by no other means can the idle and waste places of our cities and towns be so readily made productive and beautiful, and at the same time our future citizens be trained in personal and civic virtue as well as in one of the most practical arts of life.

In a communication from this department a year ago the benefits from children's gardening were forcibly described, and clubs were urged to adopt this as one of their activities. It is the aim of this article to give a few practical hints from the experience of clubs and other organizations in conducting home and school gardens.

The main problems are how to raise the money, how to reach and interest the children, and how to organize and carry on the work so as to produce the best results. These questions, however, being interdependent, cannot be wholly separated in discussion.

The possible exercises to be considered include the land and its preparation, tools with place of storage, fertilizers, seeds, prizes, incidentals, and the service of an expert director.

GREGORY'S SEEDS

Guaranteed fresh and pure, and sold at a reasonable price. Try them this year.

Gregory's Improved Crosby Egyptian Beet the darkest and earliest beet ever introduced. A great favorite among market gardeners.

Gregory's Improved Danvers Carrot is a rich, dark orange in color, and a great favorite. The largest and best English carrots are purchased quantities of this seed from us.

Write for a copy of our beautiful new catalogue, the most valuable book for farmers and market gardeners ever given away.

J. J. H. Gregory & Son, Northfield, Mass.

In the case of home gardens without paid director the expense may be reduced almost to nothing.

The money for gardening is often raised by a spring festival in which the children take a prominent part, thus engaging their interest from the start. At least one club has the seeds for sale on this occasion in one-cent packages, and each child buying five cents' worth is registered, and enters for the prizes. The general opinion is that it is better for children to pay—say five cents—for the seeds or an equal sum for registering. One flourishing garden association raises its funds, several hundred dollars, wholly by subscriptions and unsolicited gifts. The largest manufacturing concern in this place contributes $75 annually for prizes, in recognition of the business value of the enterprise.

The free use of a vacant lot for gardening may usually be obtained where there is no school land, and the preparation of even a forbidding piece of ground can often be accomplished by the children. But it is a question whether they should expend their enthusiasm on this labor rather than be left free for the really productive effort which will furnish scope for all their energy and zeal.

The management of gardens may be in charge of a paid director with volunteer inspectors, forming a working and supervising board, or the whole work may be voluntary. Although excellent results have been obtained with a wholly amateur service, it is the unanimous verdict that the highest efficiency can be reached only under a paid expert. One of the important duties of this director is to instruct the inspectors, whose knowledge and training is often inferior to their zeal. It is most desirable also that these inspectors have gardens of their own wherein they themselves may work out the problems which they must help the children to solve.

The preliminary instruction as to preparing the ground and planting must usually be given to the children in groups, and this is most conveniently done through the schools. The director goes from room to room, giving instruction, registering names and distributing seeds. Then the inspectors should begin work at once. Perhaps no item has been more neglected than this. Verbal instruction alone is seldom enough to enable children to deal with the hard, infertile earth in many of their yards. Every child should be started right, and then followed up as necessary. Reports from garden work indicate that often only about two-thirds of the children who take seeds produce any results worth counting, and that most of those who fail give up discouraged during the first few weeks, before receiving any visits from director or inspectors.

Concerning the gardens themselves, there is scope for boundless variety of plan and treatment. While the main emphasis must usually be placed on vegetable and flower beds, it is suggested that attention might perhaps often be given to shrubs and vines and to the decorative treatment of the yard as a whole. Children should at least be inspired and taught to keep their yards neat and trim and not to allow the beds to become shabby as the season wears on. Also children whose parents own the premises might sometimes plant a tree, judiciously selected and placed, this done, like all the work, with the approval of the parents. The incidental relations of sociability and co-operation between the inspectors and the families, centering in the children, are among the finest fruits of home gardening.

Older children can be encouraged to keep records or diaries of their work. These may be illustrated by photographs or drawings, made by the children themselves, showing the gardens at various stages of development. Such records suitably bound form an interesting and valuable part of the official exhibit.

The ideal or standard gardening plant for a community would perhaps be organized something like the Home gardens for children who have available land; school gardens where plots shall be given to those who cannot have home gardens, surplus space to be assigned at discretion; supplementary window gardening; school gardens to be used as models and as practical object lessons for class work with the home gardeners; a paid expert director, a large number of inspectors, among them some teachers, especially of nature work; inspection to begin with the preparation of the ground; many graded prizes and ribbons and honorable mention, so that no good work shall go unrecognized.

But a beginning must usually be small, and every earnest, intelligent effort will win results. The prize for simplicity of organization with minimum outlay of money and effort should go to a club in a congested manufacturing suburb of Boston. The Civics Committee had for some time conducted a mothers' club. In the spring of 1909 they interested these mothers in gardening for their children in their tiny and desolate back yards. To be supplemented by window gardens. Seeds were given to the mothers with instructions, to be passed on to the children, as to planting and care. This was followed up by regular visits from the committee for further instruction and encouragement. In spite of a summer exceptionally hot and dry, most of these gardens flourished and brought forth goodly crops of flowers and vegetables although much gardening in more favored spots and under more expensive and elaborate methods came to grief.

We stated in last week's Graphic the Newton Social Science Club is planning for the establishment of home and school gardening in Newton and surrounding the coming season and earnestly solicits help from any persons interested in this effort for the welfare of our city. At least $200 is needed. For particulars see the Graphic March 18. Address communications to the

THE SPANISH MAIN

The following interesting letter was received too late for publication last Friday:

My dear Mr. Editor:

You were the last man to speak to me on leaving Newton, wished me l'ien Viege, turned, attempted the ascent at the station, slipped on some ice and fell down.

It was a cold morning, you no doubt were cold as was everybody else, but as you struggled to your feet you looked warm and you looked as if you were talking to yourself, but I was too far away to catch your words.

Fifty hours later while slipping in a carriage over the beautiful island of Bermuda, with summer weather all about, I kept contrasting your slip with mine. Not a case of mal de mere so far as I except possibly one member of a bridal party. We have sailed about 4000 miles.

There is little need of my saying anything about Bermuda; everybody knows that it is our choicest holiday suburb, 44 hours from Broadway, leaving a mighty cold snap and in two days coming to a climate where white duck suits and light clothing are the rule, where warm winds, sea bathing, the fields all green, beautiful flowers and stately palms are seen everywhere—make a contrast, the memory of which it will take a long time to rub out. Bermuda has beautiful sand-papered roads reaching in all directions, built entirely of coral, oftentimes cut out of the solid rock, narrow to be sure but on the whole very satisfactory. No automobiles and if the memory of the many accidents which happened during the few weeks they were permitted count for anything there never will be any.

The houses are all white, built of coral, generally two stories in height; each has its own garden. We took a drive of some 14 miles around Harrington's sound, talking in the Devil's Den with its wonderful fishes, two beautiful caves and the home of Tom Moore. We even found time to stop and eat some delicious garden grown strawberries.

Left Bermuda with many regrets; two and one-half days sail with compass pointing due south brings us to San Juan, Porto Rico. This place was a disappointment; not much to remember unless it be the signs of marked improvement since the United States took possession. Improved sanitation, paved roads, electric cars and light.

This in the town proper. Outside the roads are bad but the native life and full tropical foliage made a trip into the country worth while. Here little Rosie and Jakey generally have nothing on but a smile and mother too wears only a low cut Princess gown.

If you could see the marked improvement a few months of concerted American energy produces in these southern cities you would be prouder than ever that you were an American citizen. No better examples of this can be found than at San Juan, Colon and Panama.

Next we take in Santiago, Cuba, on our way south. Instead of north, as was intended because it is feared that the Cuban authorities might not permit us to land after going to Trinidad where it is suspected Bubic Plague exists. A day and a night's sail along the northern coast of Haiti brings us early to the bottle neck entrance to Santiago harbor. Everybody was up watching Moro Castle as we approached.

It looked old and rotten and but for its superb defence location would seem to offer but slight hindrance to a hostile force. I was very anxious to visit Santiago by virtue of its intimate associations with the Spanish-American war. I wanted to see the battle fields of El Caney and San Juan Hill, up which I once heard Uncle Sam's voice. I wanted to see the place where the famous "Yale man on his right and a Harvard man on his left." You notice that he put the Y. a trifle ahead of the H. that time.

On landing carriages were very generally taken for the battle fields. El Caney is about seven miles and San Juan four. The roads were bad and very dusty, the heat great. The Spaniards had the immense advantage of being there first; the time to construct trenches and barbed wire fences, much of which is in evidence today. The ascent of San Juan hill is very steep, in places over 45 per cent. Wonder if it is that the Americans lost as few as they did. I suppose it was fate that saved Roosevelt that day, saved him to kill off 300 big wild animals "in the interest of science," as the wireless on our upper deck reported.

Of the Spanish fortifications little need be said. Nature working for centuries had nearly destroyed them; these and the improvised defences could hold back American grit but for a little. The fight was lost before it began.

Santiago is a typical Spanish town. Its houses, painted all the colors of the rainbow, backed up by a luxuriant tropical foliage, gives it a particularly vivid picturesqueness as viewed from a distance. Kingston harbor, Jamaica, next admits our ship, is the island's largest city. It is well laid out as are all cities that have had large disasters overtake them in recent years. Kingston has been destroyed once by fire and twice by earthquake, the last three years ago. The time here was spent in making two well established trails. The first was a drive of 19 miles into the country to a botanical garden. I did my best to get an automobile but the six machines all there are for hire, had been engaged by wireless. We were, however, fortunate in getting a good carriage, good horses and an English-speaking driver. Charles, what's the matter with your log? I asked the black. "O my horse and killed the gentleman I was driving." How did it seem? "The earth went up and down like that ship, sar," pointing to a small sloop pitching at anchor. How long? "Forty seconds, sar." In 40 seconds time $5,000,000—the largest part of the city destroyed—1000 people killed, that was certainly going some.

Evidences of the quake may still be seen on all sides. The road to Castleton Gardens runs along the electric car line for five miles to Constant Springs Hotel and then directly toward the Blue Mountains which make an effective background for the city proper. Up and down through the mountain passes we were too much of the time following the course of the Way Water river, whose waters are as blue as that of the Italian lakes. The mountain slopes on all sides were covered with banana, coconut palms and sugar cane, the picturesque homes of the natives half way down the mountains, tucked in among the palms, added much to the effect but to crown it all now and then we came to a stretch of country where flowering trees and shrubs in scarlet, vermilion and purple simply ran riot. O, it was a great sight. At Castleton the Jamaica government maintains the most famous tropical gardens in the world. Every kind of a tropical plant can be found here in its fullest perfection. The pond in the least that can support a weight of 60 pounds, the travellers palm, the cutting of which has saved many lives by furnishing water at critical times; the Ippei Appl palm, from which comes the Panama hat, etc., etc.

A 38-mile drive is rather too long, even in paradise, but we stood it pretty well and felt well paid for the effort.

The trip to Spanish Town and Bog Walk was comparatively easy, by train to Bog Walk through Spanish Town. Here we took carriages and returned through the beautiful Bog Walk gorge as far as Spanish Town, then train to Kingston. By many this Bog Walk drive is considered the finest in the world; it is certain its scenery is the most famous in the West Indies. The road follows the course of the Rio Cabra river and while the mountain slopes are higher and more abrupt therefore perhaps grander, there is not the wealth and richness of foliage we saw yesterday en route to Castleton. As we approached Spanish Town the country became level, bordered on either side by banana plantations.

Spanish Town is as its name implies the real thing. The picturesque seat of government 40 years ago, its old plaza, residence of the Spanish governor, the cannon from de Grase's flagship are a few of the sights.

Now for Panama; the chance of seeing the greatest engineering enterprise of all time. Of Colon I can only say that it is a cheap and uninteresting city—nothing lovely, no frills about it. However it has started right. Its streets are broad and right angled, its sidewalks wide, flanked on both sides by two storied wooden erections, verandahs and painted green, store below, tenements above. No there's nothing lovely about it. But Calais today is the biggest monument of nature's respect to modern science and American aggression that this earth is carrying. Five years ago when the United States took hold of this proposition the canal zone was the worst fever spot that ever killed a white man. Today yellow fever is practically unknown. The disease carrying mosquito out for a moist-breeding spot will have to get up mighty early and hunt diligently with the odds against him of finding any egg depository at all, and if he succeeds in breeding he still fails to spread the disease because there is no yellow fever and because of the numberless mosquito proof villas scattered all over the canal zone.

Panama City on the Pacific end of the canal has also been cleaned up and has a death rate about the same as Newton. In cleaning Panama a different proposition must have been presented. Colon was only a part of the canal works. Panama was an old well established city. Its stately Spanish buildings and plazas still remain as do its systematic, winding narrow streets. But the dreadful death rate no longer exists. That Uncle Sam is taking excellent care of his employees is seen on every hand. The best example of this is at Ancon, just out of Panama; here every house is mosquito proof, owned by the government and given rent free. Here too is the $5,000,000 hospital built by the French, a magnificent institution, with staff equipment and site that represents the last word in the treatment of tropical disease. The French under de Lesseps lost 50,000 men from yellow fever and sunk $200,000,000 before it gave up the canal.

In '92 it offered to sell and later did to the United States its good will in the enterprise for $40,000,000. In '03 the Republic of Panama leased forever to the United States a tract of land 10 miles wide on each side of the proposed canal; in return the United States paid $10,000,000 and after nine years must pay $250,000 each year—that is how the United States stands today. The train which carried us over the isthmus follows very closely the course of the canal, but because a part of the present track runs directly through the canal it has been found necessary to relocate a look back and think of the stupendous work completed, no doubt there will be raised a monument in honor of the engineers who planned and successfully carried out this, the greatest engineering feat of modern times, but let not America forget to raise a greater monument in honor of those four physicians—Reed, Agramonte, Carroll and Lazear—who not only freely gave their bodies, but even their lives in the actual experiments which led to blotting out yellow fever and made the building of this canal possible.

The number of food animals in the United States has decreased five million since 1901, and the number of consumers has increased twelve millions in the same time. This is the result of an analysis by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor, of the census estimates of population and the Department of Agriculture's estimates of food animals in the years 1901 and 1910.

The term "food animals" includes in this instance all cattle, sheep and swine in the United States as estimated by the Department of Agriculture, and the term "consumers" includes all of the population as estimated by the census. The Department of Agriculture's figures put the total number of cattle in the United States on Jan. 1, 1901, at 62,153,000; sheep, 59,344,000; and swine, 57,000,000, a total of 178,497,000. For Jan. 1, 1910, the estimate is cattle, 60 million; sheep, 57,144,000, and swine, 47,344,000, a total of 164,488,000, a decrease of five million in the aggregate of the three groups of food animals. The census estimates the population of the United States on June 1, 1901, at 77,647,000, and on June 1, 1910, at 89,912,000, an increase of a little more than 12 millions in the population, while the number of food animals was declining about five millions. This makes the total number of food animals to each 100 persons in 1901, 231, and in 1910, but 193, a decrease of 16 per cent in the number of food animals to each 100 persons residing in the United States.

In the meantime prices of grains show similar advances. The quoted price of corn in the New York market in the first week of January, 1901, was, according to the Bureau of Statistics figures, 45.34 cents per bushel, and in the first week of January, 1910, 71.12 cents per bushel, an advance of 56 per cent; of oats in January, 1901, 28.14 cents per bushel, and in January, 1910, 49.12 cents, an advance of 75 per cent; of wheat, in the first week of January, 1901, 81 cents per bushel, and in January, 1910, $1.30 per bushel, an advance of 60.12 per cent.

any damage. Here also the the Gautam locks, three in number, over 3000 casks of Portland cement are daily used at just this point. The next stop is at Culebra, where is the famous cut. Here, as nowhere else, is the material, tangible evidence of the enormous amount of work done since America took over the big ditch. We stood on the bank and looked up and down a mile in either direction. The workmen looked small on the bottom of the cut. Everything was on the go; numerous dump trains, steam shovels by the dozen hissing steam drills which make the hole for the dynamite before the shovel gets it. A dozen blasts went off while we stood there, then a little quiet, when just ahead a whistle began blowing and it blew and blew; suddenly the whole side of an elevation went out. I knew what was coming for I had heard the following advice given by an official to a tourist: "Sonny, when you hear an engine whistle go in 'elf she weren't goin' to stop 'fore day after tomorrow; run like h—, there's dynamite around somewhere."

Forty-two million cubic yards of cut has been done; 35,000,000 remain. The locks are to be constructed on the Pacific end, the Pedro Mesquero and the Miraflores. The canal is 49 miles long; never less than 40 feet deep. Last month the number of men actually at work on canal and relocating the railroad was 37,386. Ships are expected to go through the canal in four years from now. When all is finished and the ships sail silently through, when America gets time to look back and think of the stupendous work completed, no doubt there will be raised a monument in honor of the engineers who planned and successfully carried out this, the greatest engineering feat of modern times, but let not America forget to raise a greater monument in honor of those four physicians—Reed, Agramonte, Carroll and Lazear—who not only freely gave their bodies, but even their lives in the actual experiments which led to blotting out yellow fever and made the building of this canal possible.
